ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.

THE document, from which an extract in extenso is given in the note pp. 129, 130, has been since ascertained not to be the same which is referred to by Mr. Blaauw in the Sussex Archæological Collections, ii. p. 97. It appears that there were at Carlton Ride two accounts, essentially different, which testified to the burial of Sir Arnald de Gavaston at Winchester in 1302.

Page 280.—It may deserve notice that an account of Chiavenna, and of the catastrophe by which the adjacent town of Pleurs was destroyed, has been given by Bishop Burnet, in his Travels, in 1685-86, as narrated in letters to the Hon. Robert Boyle.

Page 294.—There is a small post-town called Kalte Herberge on the road from Strasburg to Basle, through Suabia. See Gent. Mag. vol. lxi. p. 1186; lxiii. p. 603.
