

A Derbyshire Visitation Manuscript, 1687.

By REV. HENRY LAWRENCE, M.A.

THE Heralds' Visitations for the various English counties were held between the years 1528 and 1686. In the former year the first commission to hold a visitation was issued to Thomas Benolt, Clarenceux King of Arms; and as no Constable of England was appointed after 1686, the Heralds were no longer able to enforce their authority by the assistance of the Earl Marshal's Court, and ceased to apply for commissions. The latest bears the date May 13th, 1686, and took effect in the last visitation of London, commenced July 8th following, in which, however, entries were made as late as 1704.

In Derbyshire four visitations were held. The first by William Flower, Norroy King of Arms, in 1563 (revised or completed 1569). In addition to the copy in the Heralds' College, there are several copies of this visitation in the British Museum, and one in the Bodleian Library at Oxford. A fresh visitation is said to have taken place in 1596, but this is a mistake. The second was held in 1611 by Richard St. George, Norroy. There is a copy of this in the library of Queen's College, Oxford; one at Caius College, Cambridge; and several in the British Museum. The pedigrees recorded at the visitations of 1569 and 1611 were published in the Genealogist (vols. vii. and viii., N.S.) from Harleian Manuscripts. A third visitation was held in 1634 by St. George, the only copy of which, containing one hundred and eighteen pedigrees, is at the Herald's College.<sup>1</sup> The fourth and last visitation was conducted by William Dugdale, Norroy, in 1662-3; this has also been printed in the pages of the Genealogist (vols. ii. and iii., first series).<sup>2</sup> It seems probable that another visitation was contemplated about 1687, but it never took place. As the principal officers of the College of Arms are frequently referred to in the following pages, it will be convenient for reference to give the names of the Kings of Arms between the years 1528 and 1686.

The manuscript is neatly written on ten foolscap sheets, and is the property of Rev. C. V. Collier, M.A., F.S.A., Vicar of East Harlsey and Ingleby Arncliffe, in the North Riding of Yorkshire, to whom the Society is indebted for permission to publish this interesting contribution to the genealogy of the county.

The manuscript consists of four parts, dealing respectively with the visitations of 1569, 1611, and 1662, and notes for a further visitation made about 1687.

1.—The first two pages contain a list of the gentlemen of Derbyshire in 1569. This list consists of 113 names, of which nine are marked as doubtful, and six as having a "blank" for their arms.

2.—The second part has a list of those who entered their pedigrees at the visitation of 1611, arranged under the several hundreds, with lists of usurpers in each hundred, followed by a list "of those that promised to come to London" and "the names of those that were disclaimed." According to these lists, 106 pedigrees were entered, whilst forty-five were returned as usurpers and eighteen were disclaimed.

3.—Pages 9 to 11 contain an alphabet to the pedigrees of the 1662-3 visitation, including 135 names, followed by lists of those persons who did not appear and who disclaimed—twenty of the former and thirty-five of the latter—arranged under their several hundreds. Twenty-four names in the first list are given as having "had respite given to make proof of the arms they pretend to," and eight are further stated to have entered their pedigrees without arms.<sup>1</sup>

4.—The last part of the manuscript is the most interesting, and seems to consist of a series of notes to a projected further visitation of the county in 1687. It contains a list of arms granted between 1662 and 1687, the names of persons likely to take grants of arms, and notes on the positions and fortunes of certain Derbyshire gentlemen, for the guidance of the Heralds.

*Barlow of Stoke.

Bassett of Langley.

*Beard of Beard.<sup>6</sup>

Bird of Lockhaw.

* Pedigrees of those marked * appear in the visitations of 1569 and 1611, published in the Genealogist, vols. vii. and viii.

<sup>1</sup> Stated to be originally of Abney, but settled at Willesley for about five centuries. The elder branch became extinct in 1791 on the death of Thomas Abney, whose daughter and heir married Charles Hastings. Sir William Abney, K.C.B., of Measham Hall, represents, in the male line, a younger branch of the same family.

<sup>2</sup> The Agards were settled at Foston (parish of Scropton) soon after the Conquest. The property was sold to Richard Bate in 1675, and from his family passed to the Broadhursts (Cox, Derb. Ch.). See p. 71.

<sup>3</sup> Alsop was granted to Gueno, son of Gamel de Alsop, by Earl Ferrers in the reign of King John, and remained with that family until 1688, when Anthony Alsop sold it to Sir Philip Gell. Lord Hindlip claims descent from this family.

Blackwall of Blackwall.<sup>1</sup>

Blackwall of the Styple.

Blithe of Norton.

*Bullocke of Ouston<sup>2</sup> (with a dubit).

*Bowdon of Bowdon<sup>3</sup> (with a dubit), but no dubit in 1611.

Bonington of Barowcote.<sup>4</sup>

1 Blackwall, near Taddington.

2 Unstone.

3 Bowden, near Chapel-en-le-Frith.

4 Bearwardcote, near Etwall.

5 Apparently a member of the South Yorkshire family to which (circa 1569) belonged Thomas Bosvile, described as "of Loske (Loscoe), Co. Derby" (Journal, xxvii., p. 98).

6 This is the parent stock, Bradshawe of Bradshaw. The mistake has arisen through some copies of the Visitation pedigrees describing the earliest members of the family as of "Windley." In 1662 the family had entirely forsaken the county and had settled at Brampton, Co. York (vol. xxv., p. 46), but their pedigree is recorded in the Visitations of 1569 and 1611, which are to be found in Harl. MSS., 886, f. 14; and 1093, f. 61b., British Museum, and in that of 1634 (C. 33, in the Heralds' College).

7 Henry Cavendish, son of Sir William Cavendish, who had been greatly enriched by the dissolution of the monasteries, and Elizabeth, daughter of John Hardwick. He died in 1616, and his brother was, two years later, created Earl of Devonshire.

8 Thomas Cumbell married Agnes, daughter and heir of Ralph de Darley, who died 1370. After eleven generations at Darley, Roger Cumbell died s.p., and his sister, who died 1687, left Nether Hall to Gilbert Thacker.

9 The senior line of the Curzon family descending from Richard de Cursun, who paid scutage for four knights' fees in Co. Derby, 12 Henry II., and resided at Croxhall. He had issue his heir, Richard, whose line ended in an heiress, who brought the Croxhall estate in marriage to Edward Sackville, Earl of Dorset (born 1590, died 1652). The second son, Thomas Cursun, was of Kedleston, and from him descends that family. Croxall was in the extreme south-west of the county, on the borders of Staffordshire, and is now actually in that county, having been transferred to it by order of the Local Government Board in 1894.

Foljambe de Norton Lees.

1 William Dethick acquired this property in the reign of Richard II. by his marriage with Cecilia, daughter and heir of Thomas Curzon.

2 The first Eyre of Highlow, near Hathersage, was Thomas, second son of Robert Eyre, of Padley, who had inherited Padley through his mother, Joan de Padley, who died 1463. His descendant, William Eyre, of Highlow, who died 1706, married Katherine, daughter and eventually heir of Sir John Gell, of Hopton, Co. Derby, and their second son, John, assumed the name of Gell, while their eldest son, William Eyre, of Highlow, also dropped his patronymic and assumed the name of Archer, his wife, a daughter of Sir Walter Wrottesley, by Eleanor, sister and heir of Sir John Archer, having inherited the Archer estates.

3 The original stock from whom all the Derbyshire Eyres were descended.

4 The word of which only the first two letters are given should be Home. It refers to Eyre, of Holme, near Chesterfield, now represented by the Eyres of Rampton, Co. Notts., obtained by the marriage of Sir Gervase Eyre with Elizabeth Babington in 1624.

5 Thomas Finderne, the last of the line, left the estates to his sister Jane, who, circa 1558, married Richard Harpur, of Swarkestone, ancestor of the Harpur-Crewes, of Calke.

6 Padley was obtained by the marriage of his ancestor with the heiress of Eyre of Padley.

7 A baronetcy was conferred in 1784 upon William Fitzherbert, of Tissington.

8 Sir Godfrey Foljambe, Kt., Sheriff of Derbyshire 1567 and 1579, died 1585. His only son, Sir Godfrey Foljambe (H.S. 1586), died s.p., 1595, leaving Walton to his uncle, Francis Foljambe. The latter's son, Francis Foljambe, was created a baronet in 1622, but died s.p. in 1640, having sold his estate to Paul Fletcher in 1633. From him it descended to his nephew, Sir Paul Jenkinson, who was created a baronet in 1685 (see p. 71).

<sup>2</sup> The son of this Peter Frechville, John (aged 5, 1611), was in 1664 created Baron Frechville of Staveley.

<sup>3</sup> Sir Thomas Gerard, of Bryn, whose wife was Elizabeth, daughter and co-heir of Sir John Port, of Etwall. His son was created a baronet in 1611, and became ancestor of Lord Gerard. Sir Thomas was a noted sufferer in the cause of Mary Queen of Scots (Journal, xxvii., p. 103).

<sup>7</sup> William Needham, son of Otwell Needham, by Elizabeth, daughter and heir of Nicholas Cadman, of Cowley (parish of Darley). Cowley was sold to the Seniors of Bridgetown early in the seventeenth century (Journal, xxvii., p. 27).

<sup>8</sup> Sir John de la Pole, of Newburgh, Co. Stafford, temp. Edward III., married Cecilia, daughter and heir of Sir William de Wakebridge (Glover), from whose second son, Ralph, descended this family, while his eldest son was the ancestor of the Poles of Radbourne, from whom the Poles of Heage sprang.

<sup>2</sup> This family became extinct early in the eighteenth century by the death of John Revell, whose daughter and co-heir brought the Ogston estate into the Turbutt family, but died without issue.

<sup>5</sup> Of Shallcross from the time of King John till 1722, when John Shallcross died, leaving three daughters and co-heirs (Journal, xxviii., p. 69).

<sup>6</sup> The descendant of this Francis Shirley (died 1581) was in 1677 raised to the peerage as Baron Ferrers of Chartley. Robert, first Lord Ferrers, was advanced to the dignity of Earl Ferrers in 1711.

<sup>7</sup> Botham Hall, parish of Glossop. Judde Stafford, the first in the Visitation, was one of the jury summoned in 14 Henry VII. to try the right of Henry Bradshawe of Bradshaw to certain land in Bowden (vol. xxv., p. 24, of this Journal).

1 Created a baronet, June 29th, 1611 (ob. s.p.m., 1649). Descended from Sir Richard Willoughby, of Wollaton, who purchased one-third of the manor of Risley in the reign of Edward II. According to Collins, he was the son of Sir Hugh Willoughby, the famous navigator, and "first discoverer of Russia."

2 Sir John Harpur, of Swarkestone, son of Sir Richard Harpur, Justice of Common Pleas, by Jane, sister and heir of Thomas Findern, of Findern. His brother, Sir Richard Harpur, was of Littleover. His eldest son, Henry Harpur, of Calke, was created a baronet 1626, and is now represented by Sir Vauncey-Harpur Crewe, of Calke Abbey.

3 Sir John Zouch, second son of Lord Zouch, of Haringworth, obtained this estate in the middle of the fifteenth century by his marriage with Elizabeth, daughter and heir of Richard, Lord Grey, of Codnor. It was sold by his descendant Sir John Zouch in 1634 (Journal, xxxi., p.

4 John Clay purchased Crich from Anthony Babington, 1584 (Glover).

5 Thomas Charlton, who (May 23rd, 1612) had a confirmation of his arms, azure on a chevron or, between three swans argent, as many cinquefoils gules, by Richard St. George, Norroy, and at the same time obtained the grant of a crest. Previous to this date the family seemed to have used the arms without the cinquefoils.

<sup>9</sup> Descended from the Burtons, of Lindley, Co. Leicester, whose ancestor was Sir James Burton, of Tutbury, in the reign of Richard I. Of this family were the two famous brothers, William Burton, the Leicestershire historian, and Robert Burton, the author of the Anatomy of Melancholy. The son of the former, Cassibelan Burton, inherited Lindley, and was the father of Helen, the second wife of the Francis Burton, of Dronfield, of this Visitation; which marriage carried the representation of the senior branch of Lindley to the Burtons of Fanshaw, now represented in the female line by the Boroughs, of Hulland, Co. Derby, and Chetwynd Park, Co. Salop, by the marriage of Honora, daughter and heir of Thomas Burton, the brother of Francis, to Isaac Borrowe, of Hulland.
