

Dale Abbey—A List of Canons.

By H. M. COLVIN, B.A.

THE following list contains the names of over a hundred of the Premonstratensian canons of Dale, together with such details of their careers as are available from documentary evidence. It includes canons of other abbeys of the same order who were sent to Dale for correction¹—a punishment which was frequently resorted to by their visitor, though it does not seem always to have worked well in practice. The only complete lists of canons available are those in Bishop Redman's Visitation Register (edited by Cardinal Gasquet in Collectanea Anglo-Premonstratensia), covering the years 1475-1500, and during this period we can trace the varying fortunes of individual canons. The normal complement was then sixteen,² including the abbot, but of these, four were permanently absent serving the appropriated vicarages of Heanor, Kirk Hallam and Ilkeston, and the chapelry of Stanton-by-Dale. At the dissolution in 1538 the Deed of Surrender was signed by the abbot and sixteen canons, and of these eleven³ were still in receipt of their pensions in 1552 and 1556, five having died in the interval.

The spelling of some names has been modernised; a date standing by itself between semi-colons indicates either that the canon was holding no office at the time, or that, if so, this has not been recorded: thus Thomas Stanley was sacrist in 1475, but holding no office in 1478. Dates separated by commas only, indicate continuance of office first quoted, as in the case of John Monyash. No attempt has been made to give details of the abbots' rules, but this does not apply to their earlier careers as canons.

² Numbers had decreased since 1345, when there had been 24 canons, besides the abbot; Cox. IV, 184-5.

³ Roger Page received no pension, but was allowed to retain the living of Kirk Hallam.
