

Surrey in periodical literature 1982

Compiled by P F ASHWORTH

Articles on Surrey or including items of Surrey interest have been published during 1982 in the periodicals and series listed below. Articles in periodicals and publications specifically devoted to Surrey have been excluded.

Antiquaries Journal

- 61 A small fourteenth century cragloft house at Leatherhead, Surrey; by John Blair, 328-31

B A R International Series

- 120 Craft and industry: medieval and later potters in S E England, by Anthony D F Streeten, 323-46

British Museum Occasional Paper

- 32 Textural analysis: an approach to the characterization of sand-tempered ceramics, by Anthony D F Streeten, 123-34

Genealogists' Magazine

- 20 (11) Occupations in Bermondsey, 1701-03, by Julia M Howe, 743-7

Journal of the Royal College of Physicians of London

- 16 The waters of Epsom Spa, by Alex Sakula, 124-8

London Archaeologist

- 4 (6) The Vauxhall pottery -2: excavations 1977-81, by Roy Edwards, 148-54
4 (7) Excavations at Rectory Grove, Clapham, 1980-81, by Robin Densem and Derek Seeley, 177-84
4 (8) Excavations at Beddington, 1981, by Lesley Adkins and Roy Adkins, 199-203
4 (9) Carew Manor, Beddington: new light on the house and its garden, by Barry Weston [and others], 227-32
A third century well group, and the later Roman settlement in Southwark, by Brian Yule, 243-9

Medieval Ceramics

- 6 Medieval ceramics in south-east England: a regional research strategy, by Anthony D F Streeten, 21-32

Southern History

- 4 A twentieth century squire in his landscape: Reginald Bray of Shere, Surrey, by P F Brandon, 191-220

Transactions of the Ancient Monuments Society. New Series

- 26 Vernacular buildings on early maps of the Weald, by E M Yates, 210–26

Transactions of the London and Middlesex Archaeological Society

- 32 Problems in the quaternary development of the Thames valley around Kingston: a framework for archaeology, by J S Penn and J D Rolls, 1–12
A late Neolithic macehead from Kingston upon Thames, by D Field and J Penn, 15–7
A group of Saxon and medieval finds from the site of the Neolithic causewayed enclosure at Staines, Surrey, with a note on the topography of the area, by R Robertson-Mackay [and others], 107–31