

“... if you strike the Persian skulls, even with a pebble, they are so weak that you break a hole in them; but the Egyptian skulls are so strong that you may smite them with a stone and you will scarcely break them in”.

Herodotus The Histories, III.12