

SUMMER, 1971
VOL. 1 No. 11
15p

the London Archaeologist

WALTHAM ABBEY

FULHAM POTTERY

ROMAN AND MEDIEVAL THAMES-SIDE

DELFTWARE POTTERY ANALYSIS

MOSAIC

BOOKS

DIARY

COMMENTARY

current archaeology

ALL THE LATEST NEWS

about archaeology is to be found in Current Archaeology. All the big sites—Fishbourne, South Cadbury, Winchester, Danebury, the London Palace, Dover—if it is important it has been reported in Current Archaeology.

SPECIAL OFFER!!

To encourage those readers of the London Archaeologist who do not yet subscribe to Current Archaeology to repair this dreadful omission, we hereby make a Special Offer: send in your subscription of £1.50 before 31st July 1971, and we will send you not only the 6 issues for the coming year, but also the two most recent issues—8 issues for the price of 6!

But remember, this offer closes on 31st July, 1971.
Write to :

Special London Offer,
Current Archaeology,
9 Nassington Road,
London, NW3 2TX

THE HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

For more than sixty years the Association has been serving those interested in History—Courses, Conferences, Tours, Library, Publications. The general pamphlets—short reviews of great subjects. Helps for students of History—succinct bibliographies and handlists. Recent additions include important new titles. Teaching of History pamphlets—methods and techniques. The Annual Bulletin of Historical Literature—an invaluable aid.

HISTORY—an academic journal of established standing.
TEACHING HISTORY—a new bulletin of method which has had a great welcome.
Appears twice a year.

Annual Conference at Winchester in 1972.
Vacation School at Aberdeen 26th July-5th August.

BRANCH activity—in most areas.

THE ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION, including the Journal HISTORY and the Bulletin TEACHING HISTORY, is £3.25 paid in advance; excluding the journal and the Bulletin, £1.50.
Members may obtain the periodical HISTORY TODAY at a reduced postal subscription rate.

Details and full list of publications from
The Historical Association (L.A.),
59a Kennington Park Road, S.E.11