

THE SOCIETY FOR POST-MEDIEVAL ARCHAEOLOGY

The Society for Post-Medieval Archaeology is dedicated to the archaeology of Britain, Europe and the wider world from c. AD 1500 to the present day, and is the leading forum for discussion and debate of this fascinating period which saw the making of the modern world.

Annual membership is only £27, and just £15 for full-time students and those under 25. Join us now!

Find out more at www.spma.org.uk

Membership includes:

- Access to grants for help with fieldwork, research and publication;
- Our international journal, with the latest research and book reviews;
- Regular newsletters, with news of events from around the world;
- Discounts on attendance at our annual conferences;
- Discounts on publications including the Society's acclaimed monographs.

...be your space?

London Archaeologist has been offering not-for-profit organisations the chance to advertise at very low cost since 2011 - with great success.

Advertisers like the RAI (below) and the CBA have recruited new members. Others, like SPMA (left) and CoLAS, have attracted participants to lectures and events such as Festival of British Archaeology. The Old Operating Theatre gave readers a special discount to the museum. And the Thames Discovery Programme uses the ads to publicise possibilities for participation in archaeology.

It's easy to get your message out there too. We can supply simple artwork if required. To find out more, email us via the contact page on our website, londonarchaeologist.org.uk, or write to the address on the contents page of this issue. Summer deadline 1 June.

Could our space...

THE ROYAL ARCHAEOLOGICAL INSTITUTE

Explore the archaeology and history of Great Britain from prehistory to the present day

Members enjoy:

- eight monthly lectures at Burlington House, London
- access to the Society of Antiquaries of London library
- the peer-reviewed Archaeological Journal
- biannual newsletter
- expert-led visits to sites of importance and current work
- friendly contact with world-class experts
- sponsored student membership schemes
- access to research grants

For further details and to join, go to:
www.royalarchinst.org

