

THE SOCIETY FOR POST-MEDIEVAL ARCHAEOLOGY

The Society for Post-Medieval Archaeology is dedicated to the archaeology of Britain, Europe and the wider world from c. AD 1500 to the present day, and is the leading forum for discussion and debate of this fascinating period which saw the making of the modern world.

Annual membership is only £36, and just £20 for full-time students and those under 25. Join us now!

Find out more at www.spma.org.uk

Membership includes:

- Access to grants for help with fieldwork, research and publication;
- Our international journal, with the latest research and book reviews;
- Regular newsletters, with news of events from around the world;
- Discounts on attendance at our annual conferences;
- Discounts on publications including the Society's acclaimed monographs.

Running a course?

Event coming up?

Recruiting new members?

Publications to sell?

Special offer to promote?

USE THIS SPACE

To help get your message across, we've made the ads here on the back page available exclusively to charities and voluntary organisations involved in archaeology and history. They're a very cheap way of publicising activities, and we can even help with simple artwork.

Just get in touch with us via the website:
londonarchaeologist.org.uk/contact

London Archaeologist

ANNUAL LECTURE and AGM

Making sense of Roman London
a new archaeological history 25 years on

Dr Dominic Perring

Director of the Centre for Applied Archaeology and Senior Research Fellow, UCL Institute of Archaeology

With new discoveries constantly challenging our understanding of the Roman origins of the city, it can be difficult to keep track of how new evidence fits the wider picture.

At this year's Annual Lecture on 14 May, Dominic Perring marks 25 years since he wrote his book Roman London with a review of the excavations and research that have led him to a thorough and radical rethink of how London was shaped over 400 years by both imperial patronage and military force.

14th May 2015

free of charge ~ all welcome

6.30pm: wine reception ~ 7.00pm: AGM and Annual Lecture ~ Institute of Archaeology 31-34 Gordon Square, London WC1