

Gazetteer of Earthworks in Whittlewood Area

General

- Ridge and Furrow There is piecemeal survival of R&F in each of the 11 parishes and much more can be plotted from APs. General plotting of R&F achieved, but no detailed mapping of individual selions
- Coppice banks and ditches Elements of the medieval coppice system first recorded in 1608 survive in mutilated form in Northants. Other elements found in Bucks. The majority of these have been visited on the ground and plotted. Work continues. Could benefit from drawing profiles or sections following excavation.
