3.1.2 Catalogue of postholes - F123 - 132

Feature	Description	Plan	Section	Finds
				Pottery	Bone	Other
123	Probable posthole marking the termination of F121 - max. width 0.80m and max. depth 0.98m - fill consisted of F123.1 - a layer of loose gravel and fine sandy soil above F123.2 - a layer of orange to brown coarse sand with pebbles - no trace of a post and therefore presumably withdrawn - feature revealed after excavation of F121 and therefore F123.1 and 2 sealed by primary silt of F121 -	fig 3	fig 13
132	Possible small posthole - max. width 0.40m and depth 0.29m - fill of gravelly soil - no trace of post - sealed below primary silt of F121	fig 3	fig 13
