EXTRACTS FROM THE PRESBYTERY RECORDS OF DALKEITH, RELATING TO THE PARISH OF NEWBATTLE, DURING THE INCUMBENCY OF MR ROBERT LEIGHTON, 1641-1653. COMMUNICATED BY THE REV. THOMAS GORDON, MINISTER OF NEWBATTLE. WITH SOME INTRODUCTORY REMARKS BY DAVID LAING, ESQ., V.P.

Any attempt to discover new facts regarding the life of a person so well known and so justly admired as ARCHBISHOP LEIGHTON, might seem to be hopeless. Yet the earlier part of his history remains very obscure, and, in particular, his connexion with the Presbyterian Church during the times of the Covenant has almost been wholly overlooked, as perhaps some of his admirers could wish it should be. Anything, however, tending to illustrate the character of such a man cannot fail to be interesting.

For this purpose I had intended to form a small collection of Leighton's unpublished letters, written at various periods of his life, but find that I have been forestalled, partly by some communications which have lately appeared in "Notes and Queries," from the Rev. C. F. Secretan, Besborough Gardens, Westminster, who has brought together fifteen such unpublished letters, chiefly from the Lauderdale Correspondence, now in the British Museum.

The extracts from the presbytery books of Dalkeith, which I have now to lay before the Society, were obligingly communicated by the Rev. Thomas Gordon, minister of Newbattle. They furnish a number of minute notices regarding the period of Leighton's career, not much known to his English biographers, when he was the minister of that parish; and they serve, as Mr Gordon has remarked in his letter accompanying the extracts, to correct various mistakes into which Bishop Burnet has fallen and misled later writers. The following is a brief summary of his life:—
Robert Leighton was the son of Alexander Leighton, doctor of medicine, and was born in the year 1611. The place of his birth has not been ascertained. Robert was educated at Edinburgh, having entered the university in the winter of 1627, under Mr Robert Ranken, one of the regents, and he took his degree of Master of Arts 23d of July 1631.

During his attendance he incurred some academic censure in reference to a juvenile jeu d'esprit, which has been aggravated into his expulsion from the College. In the State Paper Office, London, a few years ago, before any printed Calendars were known, I met with a letter written by him to his Father explanatory of the circumstance, which is too interesting in his early history to be disregarded. The letter itself is one of those printed in "Notes and Queries" last February; but from the writing being very illegible, some of the words are there inaccurately deciphered. I only quote the chief part of it:

It is addressed "To his kind and loving father, Mr Alexander Leighton, D' of Medecine, at his house on the top of Pudle Hill, beside the Blacke Friars Gate, near the Kings Wardrobe there, London:

"Sir,

"The buisines that fell out with me, which I cannot without sorrow relate that such a thing should have fallen out, yet having some hope to repe good out of it as yow exhort me—it, I say, was thus. There was a fight betweene our Classe and the Semies, which made the Provost to restraine us from the play a good while; the boyes upon that made some verses, one or two in every classe, mocking the Provost's red nose. I, sitting beside my Lord Borundell and the Earl of Ha[dington's] son, speaking about these verses which the boyes had made, spoke a thing in prose concerning his nose, not out of spite for wanting the play, neither having taken notice of his nose, but out of their report, for I

1 "Cathekinges," in the first part of this letter, which Mr Secretan queries, was James Cathkin, bookseller in Edinburgh: See Bannatyne Miscellany, vol. ii. p. 249.
2 John, Master of Berriedale, predeceased his grandfather in 1639; but his son George succeeded to the Earldom of Caithness in 1644.
3 This was Robert Hamilton, the youngest son of Thomas, Earl of Haddington, by his third wife.
never saw [him] before but once, neither thought I him to be a man of great state. This I spoke of his name, and presently, upon their request, turned it into a verse thus:

'That which his name\(^1\) importes is falsely sad,
That of the oken wood his head is made,
For why, if it had bein composed so,
His flaming nose had fir'd it long ago.'

"The Verses of Apology not onely for myselfe but for the rest\(^1\) yow have in that paper. I hope the Lord shal bring good out of it to me. As for the Primare\(^2\) and Regents, to say the trueth, they thought it not so hainous a thing as I my selfe did justly thinke it. Pray for me as I know you doe, that the Lord may keepe me from like fals; if I have either Christianity or naturality, it will not suffer me to forget yow, but as I am able to remember yow still to God; and to endeavour that my wayes greive not God and yow my deare Parentes, the desire of my heart is to be as little chargeable as may be. Now desireing the Lord to keepe yow, I rest, ever endeavouring to be,

"Your obedient Son,
"ROBERT LEIGHTON.

"I pray yow, Sir, remember my humble duety to my mother, my loving brethren and sisters: remember my duety to all my freindes.

"EDENBROUGH, May 6, 1628."

This letter supplies the exact date, and shows it was during the first year of his attendance at the college. The civic dignitary to whom allusion is made was David Aikenhead, who was chosen provost of Edinburgh no less than ten times betwixt the years 1619 and 1636. The Palinode or Apology in reference to these lines he here acknowledges; and it might be shown that Leighton, in his younger days, evinced a disposition to satire, having written one or more copies of sarcastic verses against the Scottish bishops of the time.\(^3\)

\(^1\) Evidently the rest of the Class.
\(^2\) Primare, \textit{primarius}, principal.
\(^3\) See Pieces of Scottish Fugitive Poetry. Second Series. Edinb. 1853, post 8vo. It includes Leighton's Apology; which is also contained in Maidment's "Analecta Scotica."
Two letters, addressed by Leighton to his mother in 1629, which make mention of his aunt, his brothers James and Elisha, and other relations of whom little or nothing is known, are also preserved in the State Paper Office. These, with the former one, had been found among his father's papers, which were seized by Archbishop Laud, when Dr Leighton was apprehended, and experienced the tender mercies of the Star-Chamber, for writing his "Zion's Plea against the Prelacy," a well-known volume, printed anonymously in Holland, in 1628. Having been tried and convicted, in 1630, the author of this work had to endure not only many long years of imprisonment, but the most cruel punishment, consisting in his being whipped—standing in the pillory—his cheeks branded with hot irons with the letters S. S. (sower-of sedition)—having his ears cut off—his nose slit, and fined in a sum of £10,000 sterling, and confined for life in the Fleet Prison. His case was brought before the English Parliament in 1640, when he was liberated. He survived till a very advanced age; his son, on more than one occasion, as we learn from the following extracts, having gone to England to visit him in his latter days. Dr Leighton appears to have died in the year 1649.

After Robert Leighton left the university, he spent some years on the Continent, chiefly in France, and visiting some relations who resided in Douay. On his return to Scotland, Presbytery had been re-established, and he was licensed as a preacher by the Presbytery of Edinburgh. A vacancy having occurred in the parish of Newbattle in the summer of 1641, when Mr Andrew Cant was translated to Aberdeen, Leighton obtained a presentation from the patron, William, Earl of Lothian.

In Mr Gordon's extracts, which I now take up, Leighton first appears in the month of July 1641, when, as a probationer, he was employed to "add" or expound, and also to deliver his trial discourses before the Presbytery, having brought the usual testimonial of his qualifications from Edinburgh, on the 29th of July that year.

1 Mr Matthew Lichton, educated at Edinburgh, became minister of the parish of Currie in 1592. He died 12th October 1634. His relict-spouse was Jonet Aird. His son (probably by a first marriage), Mr Henry Lichton, was served heir, "Magistri Mathei Lichtoune, ministri verbi Dei apud Currie," 10 Dec. 1634. (Inquisitiones Generales, No. 2093.) The name of Mr James Leighton occurs in the list of expectants for the ministry within the bounds of the Synod of Fife, in September 1611.

May 13.—Forasmuch as Mr James Aird was not lawfully summonded for giving a testimonial to Steven Askine, who was received for his complying with the rebels in the Church of Newbattle, contrary to the Acts of the Generall Assembly, he was ordained to be summonded again the next day, with certification.

The which day, being called, compeared Mr James Aird, and declared that the Session of Newbotle, to which he was clerk, gave orders to him for the giving up the name of Steven Askine to Mr John Sinclair, who did occasionally preach there by the absence of Mr Robert Lightoun, for receiving his satisfaction for his compliance with the rebels; and whereas he was received, not being first at the presbytery, conform to the Act of the Generall Assembly, it was onely done by him out of ignorance. April 6.—This day, the brethren (being interrogated by the Moderator), (as also the two days before) declared that they had all read the Declaration themselves the first Sabbath after they got it. Onely Robert Porteous, the elder of Newbotle, declared that Mr Robert Leightoun had made the Precentor read it, and that because of the lowness of his owne voice, which could not be heard thorow the whole kirk. The clerk was ordained to report this in writ to the Commission of the General Assembly.

April 27.—Absents from the Synod, tried.—Mr Robert Leightoun, because in England, could not give his excuse.

At Edinburgh, in the New Church, May 3.—The quhilk day, the bretheron and ruling-elders being removed quhill ther presbyteris book wes a trying, did mak choise of Mr James Robertsone and Mr Robert Lichtoun to preach to the Parliament Sunday come a moneth; and in case Mr Robert Lichton his not home-coming, Mr Patrick Sibbald to supplie his place.

June 15.—The quhilk day, according to the ordinance of the Provinciall Assembly, the moderator did demand Mr Robert Lichton—1. Why he did not read the Declaration himself. 2. Why he went away to England without obtaining libertie from the Presbyterie, seeing ther wes Acts of the Generall Assembly expressly prohibiting ministers to be absent from their charge thrie sabbatothes togidder, under the paine of deposition, unless they have obtained libertie from ther Presbyterie.

To the first he answered, That that Sabbath quhen the Declaration wes to be red, he was so troubled with ane great defluction that he was (not) able to extend his voyce, and therefor was necessitat to do that farr, by his intention, bot it shall be holpet in tyme coming. To the 2d he ansueret—

1. That quhen he went away he intendit onlie to have bene absent two or thrie Sabbothes at the most, and he humbly conceavet ther had bene no expresse Act why an minister might not have bene absent for that short space. Bot if ther be any such Act, he wes sorrie that he should have doWhe anything that might appeir contrarie to it.

2. Hoc posito he had remainit longer away than these few Sabbothes togedder, he affirmed, that he did acquaint som of the brother with it, and desyret them to excuse him.

3. Quhen he cam to York he found an busines of an neir friend's, bot non of his own, that necessitat him to go further and stay longer than he intendit.

4. He no sooner came to York bot als sone he wrote an letter of excuse to the Brether, notwithstanding it did not come to ther hands befor his coming home.
5. Quhen he came home he was surpryset with seikness, and was not able to come to the presbyterie for the space of 14 days.

He being removit, and his excuses being considerit and they charitablie constructit, did appoynt him to be gravlie admonishit to amend; which was accordinglie done be the Moderator, after his incalling, and receavit by him humbledie, and promisit be the grace of God to amend.

June 22.—The quhilk day, list being made for choising the commissioners to the Generall Assemblie, Mr John Knox, Mr John Sinclair, and Mr Robert Lichton wes choisen, and my Lord Borthwick rulling elder; which being intimat be the Moderatour to them, they did all accepe of the commission and gave ther oath of fidelitie, except Mr Robert Lichton, who gave these Reasones why he could not accept of the commissiow:

1. Because he had an great charge.
2. He had his people to examine.
3. He wes bot shortlie come home from England.
4. It was not long since he was commissioner to the Generall Assemblie.
5. The great attendance of the commissiow: And therefor he could wish they would not insert his name in the commission.

The forsaid reasons, after his removall, being considerit be the Brethren, and withall laying to heart the bad consequence that might follow upon his refusall or not accepting of the commission, being orderlie choisen, uthers might do the lyk, and so ther should be no Generall Assemblie if the allegit reasones of every commissioner should be accepted as relevant: And therefor they did adhere unto ther former voyces in choising of him commissioner, and desyret him to think upon it till the day 14 days, and then to be present and accepe upon oath as the rest.

July 6.—The quhilk day, the bretheren and rulling elders that were present finding that Mr Robert Lichton was not ther to accepe the commission to the Generall Assembly ordainet his name to be expungit be the clerk out of the commissiow.

Aug. 5.—(Mr Robert Lichton present—arrangement made for copying and reading the Declaration against the Engagement and two Acts of the Assembly.)

August last.—The quhilk day, Mr Robert Lichton wes poset, Why he did not come to the presbyterie that Thursday immediately preceding the sitting downe of the Generall (Assembly) and embracit his commission to the said Assemblie, conforme to the appoyntment of the Presbyterie. Ans. He was so troubled with an distillation that he was not able to come for the space of two or three days.

Also being poset, Why he did not embrace the commissiow? Ans. He was conscious of his own weaknes for the managing of that busines, and could have wisht that they would construe it so.

2. He declared that he wes very infirme, and feared that he should not have been able to have waited upon the sitting of the Generall Assembly. And withall he assured them, that if he had suspected that they would not have chosen another in his place, notwithstanding of all his weakness of body, yea, although it had tended to the great prejudice of his health, he would have embraced it, for he resolved never to be refractory to anything which they commanded him, and he looked they would think so of him.

The aforesaid reasons being pondered by the Brethren and found somewhat weak, they thought him censurable, but that his censure should be, they continued the same to the next Thursday that the commissioners of the General Assembly be present.

Sept. 7.—The said day, the brethren and ruling elders (after Mr Robert Lichton his removal) having divers times heard his reasons read by the clerk, and charitably considered them, why he did not accept of the commission to the General Assembly the first day when he was chosen, neither came the second day conforme to the presbyterian ordinance, having gotten time to think upon it: And finding that it was not disaffection unto the cause of Christ, neither out of any disrespect unto the ordinance of his brethren, but judging it modesty in his brother and infirmity in body that moved him to it, did ordain him gravely to be admonished by the Moderator for his imprudent carriage, and to beware of the like in time coming: Which was accordingly done, and was modestly taken by him, and with all promised be the grace of God to amend.

Sept. 28—Nov. 2.—(Mr Robert Whyt, expectant, charged with not being "well myndit to the Covenant," and suspected of not praying in the Lugton family (where he seems to have been tutor) against the Engagement. He admitted he did not pray against the engagement, gave his reasons, and after long process was ultimately suspended.)

Nov. 2.—(A report on the state of the various Kirks of the Presbytery occurs here in the Register.) That of Newbattle is very brief, viz.—

"The parish thereof four miles in length, and in breadth two; communicants about 900; provyded with manse and glebe and stipend, payet be the Earl of Lowthean, patron, 4 chalder of victuals, 40 bolls thereof oats, 8 bolls wheat, and 16 bolls beir, with 400 merks of money."
Dec. 21.—(Mr Robert Leightone present.) This day, the brethren being particularly enquired by the Moderator, if they had observed the fast, and renewed the Covenant according to the directions given by the Commission of the General Assembly, answered all, that they had so done; which Mr Jhone Knox was ordained to report to the Commission.

Dec. 28.—Exercised Mr Patrick Sibbald and Mr Robert Leightone, upon the 15th of the 1st Epistle to the Corinthians, from the 6th verse unto the 9th.

Jan. 12.—Exercised Mr Robert Leightone and Mr Jhone Knox, expectant, upon the 16th ch. of the 1st Epistle to the Corinthians, from the 9th verse unto the 12th, and were approven.

April 12.—This day, the Presbytery having diligently revised and examined Mr John Pringle, his whole processe could find none of these declarations that were given in against him clearly and directly proven, &c. (he was "an expectant," or probationer, and was charged with thinking the Engagement lawfull). . . . . Mr Robert Leightone and Mr Jhone Sincleire did declare that, to their best sense and judgment, he had testified to them and evidenced true signs of sorrow and repentance for his errors and miscarriages in relation to the late Engagement; the Presbytery suspended him from preaching till he should give fureder signs and evidences of repentance. (This and other notices are sufficient to show the incorrectness of Burnet's statement, that Leighton in the year 1648 had declared himself in favour of the Engagement for the King.)

Mr Gordon having communicated to "Notes and Queries," on the 7th of June 1862, the substance of these extracts, says, "I may mention that a part of Newbattle Manse, in which I live, forms the house inhabited by Leighton. It appears from the parochial records, that it was built in 1625, during the incumbency of Mr John Aird; while over one of the windows is engraved in stone the inscription "Evangello et Posteris." The pulpit in Newbattle Church is that from which Leighton preached; having, according to tradition, been removed from the old church to the new when the latter was built in 1727. The four communion cups of silver are the same that were used by him, having been presented to the 'Kirk of Newbotle' by various parishioners on 29th May 1646." (See extract of that date, p. 483.)

"Leighton, during the time of his incumbency here, was a frequent visitor to England. After 1646 he seems to have gone there every year, sometimes on account of his father's health, and sometimes on account of "weightie businesse." It was then, as it is now, the law of the Church of Scotland, that a minister cannot be absent more than a few weeks in the year from his parish without leave asked and obtained from the Presbytery of the bounds. Year after year Leighton appears asking for leave to go to England, usually to see his father. This is regularly given; and great kindness and consideration seem always to have been shown to him. His absence usually extended to three months." . . . . After quoting the words of the Minute June 14, 1649, Mr Gordon continues, "Permission was given, and Leighton seems to have remained away till September. It is probable that his father's death occurred at this time, as on his next visit to London in March 1650, he obtained libertie to go on "weightie businesse." This "weightie businesse," doubtless, was the failure of the merchant in whose hands was placed the L.1000 which Leighton had inherited from his father, and about which he wrote to Mr Lightmaker on December 31, 1649, and February 4, 1650. In connexion with this see p. 483, for an extract from the Parochial Records, from which it would seem that Leighton had been put to inconvenience by the loss of the money."

1649, May 31.—(Mr Robert Lighton present.)
The Moderator having inquired of everie brother severally, if they had read the Declaration, and observed the day of public thanksgiving, found that everie one had discharged themselfs cheerfullie.

June 14.—The which day, Mr Robert Lighton declared that his Father, being under seakness, had written for him, and thairfor desyred libertie to goe and visite him.
The Brethren judget his desyr reasonable, grannted the same, desyring him to returne with all possible diligence to his charge, and to provide some to supplie his plaice induring his absence; quhilk he promised to be cairfull of.

June 21.—Erle of Louthian chosen rewling elder to the Assemblie.

July 12.—At Glencorss Visitation, the people said they were abundantlie satisfied of their minister [Mr Robert Allison] in his life, and much edified by his doctrine, and that he had preached according to the exigence of the times, and particularlie against malignants and sectaries.

Sept. 6.—(Mr Robert Lighton present, first time since June.)
This day the Presbyterie appoynted everie brother to give in the names of all quho in their parishes had bene upon the lait unlawful Ingagement, and had not as yet nather satisfied nor supplicate.
Sept. 20.—Mr Robert Leighton excused for his absence last day (Sept. 13).

Nov. 8.—The Provinciall Assembly of Lowthian and Tweeddale "requets my Lord Lowthian to speak to the Committie of Estaitis, that the Lordships may give ordour to their clerks to issue out commissiounes for tryall and burning of witches, gratis."

Nov. 29—Dec. 6.—The which day, exercised Mr Robert Leighton, 2 Cor. i. 6-11, and was approven.

Jan. 24.—The which day Marjorie Paterson of the parish of Newbottle (and others), confessing witches, had their depositions attested by the Moderator.

Every minister ordained to see that his kirk was provided according to the Act of Parliament. Mr Hugh Campbell to speak to my Lord of Lothian for the settling of the stipend of Newbottle.

Feb. 7.—The which day, reported Mr James Robertson, that my Lord Lothian had provided the kirk of Newbottle with a stipend, according to the Act of Parliament, to wit, 4 chalders victuall, of wheat, bear, and oats, four hundred pounds of money, with 40 pounds for the elements, with 4 sOWMSeS grass, when the minister shall demand it, with manse and gleib.

March 14.—The which day, Mr Robert Leighton did show the Presbyterie that a weightie businesse did call for him to England, and obtained libertie from the Presbyterie to goe, upon condition he should take a course for the providing of his kirk till his return, which he told the Presbyterie he had alreadie done.

May 21.—Mr Robert Leighton's name reappears at this date.

May 30.—This day, Mr Robert Carsan complained of Robert Walter his precentour, for malignant speeches that he should have vented in my Lord Lothian's family. Mr Robert therefore, and Mr John Sinclair, were ordained to try my Lady Lothian anent his speeches.

June 20.—This day, Mr John Sinclair reported that Mr Robert Carsan and he could learn nothing of the malignancy of Robert Walter, the precentour in Newtown, at Newbottle.

June 27.—This day, Robert Ker, having been 12 years in Germany, and having come to the country within thirteen days, and having his father dwelling in Newbottle, was ordained to be received to the covenant by Mr Robert Leighton, after triall.

(One Andrew Alexander, signs a declaration, expressing his sorrow for having condemning set prayers, and the use of the Lord's Prayer, and admits that it may be lawfully used, both in public and private, and he "heartilie detests and abhorres the error of those who condemne the use therof as sinfull.")

"Moreover, forasmuch as the said Andrew declared he was scarcely satisfied that set prayers were lawfull, and desired he were cleared from Scripture, Mr Robert Leighton and Mr John Sinclair were ordained to conferre with him."
ANTIQUARIES OF SCOTLAND.

There was no meeting of the Brethren from 25 July 1650, until the 15th day of June 1651, into which there was anything judicially done. The Brethren resolved to meet at Cockpen, and choose Commissioners to the General Assembly.

"That a fit man of the Synod be pitched upon, to be sent to London with commission to negotiate their liberation and freedom, by all possible and lawful means, who may take advice of the minister of St Andrews and Edinburgh, the Lord Waristoun, and Mr John Livingstoun, anent his carriage in that business, who shall have 50 peeces (50 peeces = 600 merks) allowed toward his charges, to be paid by the Presbyteries of the Synod proportionally. (3.) That some be directed from the Synod to acquaint the Magistrates of Edinburgh, and the persons in nearest relation to the prisoners, with this resolution.

(Mr Robert Ker and the clerk to draw out the letters and commission, and a committee, of which Mr Robert Leightoun was one, to acquaint the Magistrates and nearest relations with the Synod's purpose.) Proportions payable by the Presbyteries fixed.

Mr Robert Leightoun is unanimously chosen and earnestly desired by the Synod to undertake the charge of repairing to London for negotiating the enlargement and freedom of our imprisoned brethren in England; quhilk he accepted. The commission being presented and read, was approved; the tenor quhairof followeth.
The Provinciall Assembly taking to consideration the sad condition of their brethren now prisoners in England, and the duties incumbent to this Assembly in relation to them, found themselves obliged as to hold them up in prayer to God in private and publick, so to use all lawful means for their enlargement and liberty; and having found it expedient for that end, that one should be sent up to London, doe unanimously appoint their reverend brother, Mr Robert Leightoun, minister at Newbottle: hereby giving him power and commission to repair to London for negotiating the freedome and enlargement of their said brethren; and doe appoint the Presbytery of Dalkeith to take course for supply of his place, that the people of his charge sustaine no prejudice during the time of his absence: likewise the draught of the letter to the brethren imprisoned, being presented and read, was approved, the tenor quihof followeth:—

Reverend and dear brethren,— [4th November 1651].

Neither our condition nor yours will permit us at this time fully to express the thoughts of our hearts toward you in your suffering; yet we thought it our duty to give you some testimony of our remembrance of you; and therefore, being by the Lord’s good providence met here in our Provinciall Assembly, the brotherly affection we carry to you, and the Christian sympathy we have with you, hath put us to a resolution of assaying all possible and lawful means of your enlargement; for this effect we have desired our reverend brother, Mr Robert Leightoun, to repair to London, giving power to negotiate in that matter, as God shall be pleased to use any means for that end;—there shall be no earthly thing more acceptable to us: for obtaining hereof we have appointed prayers to be made throughout the churches of our bounds: in the meantime assure yourselves our souls desire to God shall be for you, that his consolation may abound in you, and his strength support you: to his rich grace we commend you, and are in him

March 4.—Report: Mr Hew M’Kaiie—Mr Robert Traill and he having moved the English Commissioner for freedome or maintenance to our brethren prisoners in England, speciallie those who are in the Tower, that they found no hopes at all of the former, and but little for the latter.

The Synod nominats and appoints Messrs William Dalgliesh, George Leslie, Oliver Colt, Robert Ker, to concurre with the brethren of Edinburgh in dealing with Mr Leighton, to the intent of the commission given him for repairing to London, to negotiat for the brethren in prises there.

(Few meetings of the Presbytery were held about this time.)

1652.

_January 22._—No exercise, because of the English commissioners at Dalkeith, and the great confluence of soldiery, both of horse and foot.

The said day the brethren appoynted ther next day of meeting to be at Cokpen this day 20 days, fearing the insolencie of the soldiers at Dalkeith.

_At Cokpen:_ There was no thing judicially downe, because there was bot few brether came ther, and therfore it was resolvett that the place of meeting should be at Dalkeith againe. In respect they were credibly informed that they might als safely meet at Dalkeith as at Cokpen.

As for his being at the table, it wes an long tyme before he did perceave him, he being at an larg distance from him, and many betwixt them, as also it being in the evening. Bot quhen he perceaved him ther, he wes much weighted then, as also now, for his imprudent and inconsiderat carriag. As for his giving of thanks, it wes after Swinton's rising from the table, uthers having dowue the lyk befor, and taking the opportunitie at his absence, did give thanks.

The brethren having ponderat the premisses, and finding that he had not careit himself as it became an man of his place and age, ordainet him to be publicly rebuiket, and to be more circumspect in tyme to come; which, after his incalling, wes accordingly down, and the same rebuik well acceptet of by the said Mr James.

The quhilk day the brethren of the Presbyterie convened, according to the appointment of the day preceding, anent the desyre of our brother, Mr Robert Lichtone, to be lowsed from his ministrie at the kirk of Newbotle, by reason of the gritnes of the congregations farre exceeding his strength for discharging the dewties thereof, especially the extreme weakness of his voice not being able to reache the halfe of them when they are convened, which hes long pressed him very sore, as he had formerly often expressed to us: And to give ane answer to the Commissioner from the Councell of Edinburgh, anent his call from them to be Principal of Edinburgh Colledge, that he may be released from his ministrie ther to that effect. (The next and only other entry in the book is dated 4th January 1646, so that during 1645 there were apparently only two meetings of session held). The foregoing minutes appear to be principally in the handwriting of William Hamilton.

Another volume commences in the handwriting of Mr James Aird.

March 17, 1646.—(On two fly-leaves at the beginning of the volume are the following entries):—

"A Cатrolue of Bookes given by William Earle of Lothiane to the Parisch Kirk of Newbattell, to be ane abiding librarie for the use of the Ministers thereof successively.

"Also of such bookes as uthers well affected hath given for the increase of the same librarie."

His successor seems to have begun a new volume when he came in 1653. There is, however, one page containing short Sessional notices, extending from 3d Dec. 1648 to Sept. 28, 1649, and another containing notices from May to July 1650.

On a fly-leaf is a "Coumpt of charges given for the building of the Eastern loft, beginning the 21 of June 1646." Among other items is one of £2, for "mending the doore of the kirk and the leaupping-on stone."

EXTRACTS FROM THE KIRK-SESSION ACCOUNTS OF NEWBATTLE.

There are full accounts of the collections and contributions of the Parish during the greater part of Leighton's incumbency, containing many interesting entries about payments for scholars, the expenses incurred during the great plague of 1645-6, the prices of various articles as well as of labour.

The first entry of the collections is 2 June 1644, and continued till Dec. 16, 1649: in the hand of Thomas Russell till Feb. 1646, and then of James Aird. The entries that follow are in another hand, of the collections and disbursements, mixed up with the Session records, from May 5, 1650, to July 21, 1650.

The distributions commence on 9th August 1641, when a compt and reckoning took place with John Hutcheson, thesaurer, and extend till May 21, 1649. There are also entries of the mortcloth from August 16, 1641, to Oct. 1648; and of the money given to them of the Westhouses under the visitation, 2d June 1646 to Nov. 1646.

From numerous entries, it seems that the rate of payment for scholars at school was ten shillings Scots per quarter, i.e., somewhat less than one penny sterling per week. A few entries may be subjoined:

In connexion with the preceding extracts, it may be noticed that the printed copy of The Solemn League and Covenant, Edinburgh 1643, which cost the Parish the sum of 4s., contains the signatures of the minister, heritors, and parishioners of Newbattle in October 1643, and is preserved in the Society's Museum, having been presented by Mr Robert Murray, bookseller, 13th March 1781. The following facsimile of Leighton's signature, along with that of William, third Earl of Subscribers.

The books which are referred to as presented to the Church are now of little importance, most of them having been rendered nearly useless from the effects of damp.

Of Leighton's subsequent history no details are required. He resigned his parochial charge when he became Principal of the University of Edinburgh, 17th of January 1653. This office he held till after the Restoration. Having been nominated to the See of Dunblane when Episcopacy was re-introduced, he proceeded to London in 1661, along with James Sharp, and other two of the newly designed Prelates, where they submitted to re-ordination. The Laird of Brodie was at that time in London, and from his Diary (now printing for the Spalding Club), we learn that he had several interviews with Sharp as well as Leighton, in the interval, while they, as Presbyterian ministers, were in what might be called a transition state. As this Diary may be completed, and thus be accessible at no distant period, I avoid extracting the passages referred to. The four bishops were consecrated at Westminster, 15th December 1661, and they returned to convey to the rest of their prelatic brethren in Scotland the same inherent virtues connected with apostolical succession which, it was held, they themselves had received by that ordinance.

Bishop Leighton's letters during the next thirteen or fourteen years show that he was by no means destitute of worldly wisdom and sagacity;

1 In the Bannatyne Miscellany, vol. iii. p. 281, without due consideration, I called him Sir John Murray of Philiphaugh and Cranstoun-Riddell.
but with all his earnest endeavours to conciliate matters, he found his duties neither a sinecure nor at all lucrative.

The following is a facsimile of Leighton's signature as Bishop of Dunblane and Dean of the Chapel Royal, to a charter granted by him as Dean to William Maxwell of Murreith, of the fishings of Culdooch, Kirkcudbright (in my own possession), dated at Edinburgh, 23d March 1666. It is the only such signature I have met with.

A vacancy occurring in the See of Glasgow by the resignation of Alexander Burnet in December 1669, Leighton was appointed Commendator; but not having been formally translated for a considerable time, his official connexion with Dunblane still subsisted. In September 1674, however, he resigned his preferment in the Church and all public employment; and having retired to England, he died at London on the 25th of June 1684. His remains were deposited in the South Chancel of the Church of Horsted Keynes, in the county of Sussex, in which parish he had resided for several years with his sister and her son, Edward Lightmaker of Broadhurst. A plain marble slab bears this inscription:

DEPOSITUM ROBERTI LEIGHTONI, ARCHIEPISCOPI GLASGUENSIS APUD SCOTOS, QUI OBIT XXV. DIE JUNII ANNO DNI. 1684.
ÆTATIS SUÆ 74.

I have no wish to call in question the sincerity of the Bishop's piety and heavenly-mindedness, but he felt himself constrained to act in concert with others in whom such characteristics were by no means remarkable. His Plan of Accommodation in 1672, devised with the sincere desire of bringing back the Ejected ministers, proved unacceptable to all parties; and there is some reason to imagine that the final resignation of his Episcopal functions was not altogether uninfluenced by feelings of mortified disappointment. This perhaps was a fortunate circumstance, since, so far as we know anything to the contrary, it may have enabled him, during his retirement from the turmoils and anxieties of public life, to revise and complete his invaluable Commentary on the First Epistle of Peter, and other writings, all of which were posthumous publications. Notwithstanding the many editions that have appeared of Bishop Leighton's Works, there is still need of a complete and carefully edited text, and this we have reason to believe is now in preparation by the Rev. William West of Hawarden Parsonage, Chester.

The SECRETARY wished to call the attention of the members to the claims which the “Gentleman’s Magazine” had on the more general support of Archæologists, as being their chief organ of communication, and combining literary ability with copious illustrations at an expense which can scarcely be remunerative to the enterprising publisher of this long-established and valuable periodical.

Professor Simpson, Mr Milne-Home, and Mr Stuart adverted to the present state of "Edin's Hall," a curious fort on the Lammermoors, near Dunse, and to an apprehension which had been expressed in that neighbourhood that the proprietor was about to sanction its demolition. With regard to the latter point, Mr W. F. Skene said he was able to state that the proprietor had no such intention; and, at the request of the meeting, he undertook to communicate the wishes of the Society for its due preservation.

The following Communications were read,—
