

Surrey in Periodical Literature 1981

Compiled by P F ASHWORTH

Articles on Surrey or including items of Surrey interest have been published during 1981 in the periodicals listed below. Articles in periodicals specifically devoted to Surrey have been excluded.

Archaeological Journal

138 William Fitz Ansculf and the Abinger Motte, by John Blair, 146-8.

British Numismatic Journal

49 A small hoard of clippings from Farnham Park, by R A Merson, 127-8.

Economic History Review

34 The continental origins of Wealden ironworkers, 1451-1544, by Brian G Awty, 524-39.

Garden History

9 (2) New light on Oatlands Park in the eighteenth century, by Michael Symes, 136-56.

Journal of Garden History

1 The tomb in the landscape: John Evelyn's garden at Albury, by Douglas Chambers, 37-54.
Jonathan Tyers's other garden, by Brian Allen, 215-38 (Denbies, Ranmore).

London Archaeologist

4 (2) Excavations at Lambeth Palace, 1980, by Robin Densem, 39-43.
Evidence for more Roman burials in Southwark, by Martin Dean, 52-3.
4 (4) A group of pottery waster material from Kingston, by Stephen Nelson, 96-102.
4 (5) The Vauxhall pottery -1: history and background to 1977-81 excavations, by Roy Edwards, 130-6.

Transactions of the London and Middlesex Archaeological Society

31 London and Southwark in the seventh century and later, a neglected reference, by Tony Dyson, 83-95.
A businessman in Elizabethan Southwark: Olyff Burr, by J E G Bennell, 121-7.
Supposed moated enclosure, Oaks Road, Stanwell, by Martin O'Connell, 159-61.