Festival of British Archaeology
18 July to 2 August 2009

From digs to delicacies, foreshore to forest, this year’s Festival of British Archaeology features activities to entice just about everyone. Nationwide, over 600 events have been registered so far for the Festival, expanded this year to 16 days, and coordinated by the CBA.

After dipping our toe in the water in 2008, London Archaeologist is working with two other projects this year to help expand visibility for London’s heritage.

Come along to Wanstead Park on Saturday 25th and Sunday 26th July (11.00 to 17.00), where we’re joining Wanstead Parklands Community Project and West Essex Archaeology Group as they explore Wanstead’s visible 18th century parklands and the Iron Age and Roman archaeology that lies beneath. As well as a trial excavation, there will be live geophysics demonstrations, finds handling, walks, talks and more. Come and help London Archaeologist create a Roman mosaic.

We’re also taking part in the amazing ‘Thames Treasures’ extravaganza at the Museum of London and Museum of London Docklands (see panel for more details). Visit us on Saturday 1st and Sunday 2nd August at the Museum in the City to help build our very own London Bridge.

Below we highlight just some of the events taking place across Greater London. Some require pre-booking, but most are free. For full details and more activities, check the Festival website: www.archaeologyfestival.org.uk.

THAMES TREASURES
Sat 18 July–Sun 2 Aug

For more than 25 free events head for the Museum of London and Museum of London Docklands where the river runs through activities for adults and families throughout the Festival. Experts reveal the hidden history of London’s great river, including coracles, mudlarks, elephant gods and whale-bones in talks, walks and foreshore visits. You’ll find lectures on sunken Tudor ships, riverside tours, Iron Age storytelling, finds to handle and the chance to make a boat or a Roman lamp. Join LA at MOL and help us create a new London Bridge. See the websites for all the details: museumoflondon.org.uk
