

GLA/SITE/3/29

Glastonbury 1962

Page 1

Abbots Hall Cross Trench. Section 71

Piece of (Victorian Garden Edging or medieval tile) in red and black pottery, probably the latter.

16'3" from N, 3' deep and 1' from E side.

Piece tufa, 15'6", 3' deep. 2' from E face.

Same day.

Started to clear area 13' – 18' from N end. Depth 2' 9" – 3' 7".

Soil - alternate layers of mortar and stoney fill.

Finished on a more definite layer of mortar and stones [C:5811] . 12' 3" – 14' 3", only a layer of mortar [C:5822] left.

Page 1 back

Overlying the mortar there was a tight layer of stones packed with brown earth. This is easily discernable in W section of the trench.

Finds: green glaze pot (of varying date) window glass (some of it appeared burnt), slate, painted red plaster.

Back page

A

B

NW corner

39/7

37/9

SW

39/6

41/1

Inside corner of Abbot's Hall SW. Base 1ft W of trench.

57ft from 90ft

79/5 from 50ft

Corners from 120ft

59/8

62/8

55/2

58/4

60

59/6

58/8

Box for SE corner of Hall

100

150

NE

66

69/6

SE

66/9

61/5

SW

59/6

61/9

NW

58/10

64/2

Base for NE corner

100

50

NE

78

76/11

SE

75/6

78/5

SW

71/8

74/8

NW

74/3

73/4

-3ins for sag & 2" from base.

55'3" from 80'; 58'3" from 120 = inner side of door jamb.