

Plate 1. Western side of footings trench, partially cut. Looking north, 2m scale.

Plate 2. Eastern side of footings trench, partially cut. Looking north, scale 2m.

Plate 3. Footing on the north side of the Hall, partially dug. Looking south-east.

Plate 4. Two large pieces of window sill re-used from the abbey. Scale 0.5m

Plate 5. Part of a roll-moulded window jamb from the abbey. Scale 0.5m

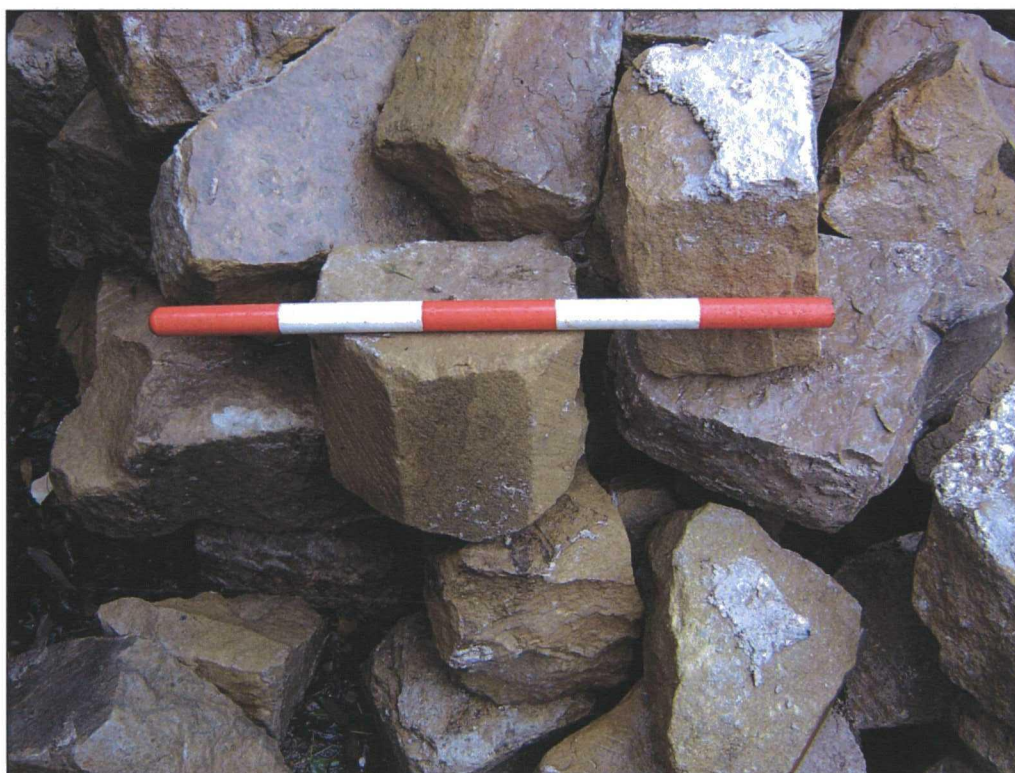

Plate 6. Column fragment from the abbey. Scale 0.5m.

Plate 7. Architectural stone re-used from the abbey – possibly a piscina. Scale 0.5m

Plate 8. Mason's mark on a re-used architectural stone re-used from the abbey. Scale 0.5m.

Plate 9. Part of a roll moulded window jamb re-used in the boundary wall to the west of Jervaulx Hall. Scale 0.5m.

Plate 10. A possible capital from a blind arcade; alternatively, possibly the base of a decorative corbel, shown upside down. Re-used from the abbey. Scale 0.5m.