Project details

Project name	Peatlings, Rear 98 Risbygate Street
Short description of the project	On the 2nd February 2017, Suffolk Archaeology CIC (SACIC) undertook an archaeological trial trench evaluation within the footprint of a proposed wine shop to the rear of 98 Risbygate Street, Bury St Edmunds, Suffolk. A single 12 x 1.80m trench (c. 5% of the total area) was evaluated to assess the quantity, quality and extent of any surviving archaeological deposits. The evaluation identified a single late medieval/post-medieval rubbish pit cut into the superficial geology in the centre of the trench, the archaeology was found to be well preserved below a levelling layer and deep topsoil deposits.
