

Some Account of the Family of Pegge, of Shirley, Osmaston, Ashburne and Beauchief Abbey, in the County of Derby.

BY THOMAS W. CHARLTON.

THE family of Pegge appears to have been settled at Shirley as early as the reign of Henry VII. The name of John Pegge occurs as a witness to the Will of one William Pope, of that place, dated 7th October, 1508. Some branches existed in the immediate neighbourhood, in the middle of the sixteenth century, which cannot be precisely connected. Sir Robert Pegge, vicar of Cosby, in Leicestershire, by his Will, dated 10th April, 1530, gives "to o^r lady of heveley (Yeaveley) in darbyshire xx^s." He also mentions his "kinsman S^r Thomas Peg, his kinsman Nicholas Peg, and Isabel Peg, and appoints S^r Robert Peg, priest, his executor." Dugdale's Visitation of Derbyshire in 1662, begins the pedigree with Ralph Pegge, of Shirley, whose three sons were—1, Christopher, of Yeldersley; 2, Edward, of Shirley; 3, Humphry, of Osmaston, ancestors of different branches. The descendants of the two former are not recorded in the Visitation, but only those of Edward Pegge, of Ashburne, second son of Humphry, of Osmaston. Edward Pegge, son of the last named Edward, having married the heiress of William Strelley, of Beauchief Abbey, Esq., acquired the same in right of his wife, and served the office of High Sheriff in 1664. Ralph Pegge states in his Will, dated 1598, that he has already conveyed his lands and tenements in Shirley to his son, Edward, and bequeaths the same to him and his heirs. His descendant, the Rev. Nathaniel Pegge, died in 1782, leaving his Shirley estate to his relative, Peter Pegge, of Beauchief, Esq., his next heir, who assumed the name of Burnell, in 1784, on being declared one of the heirs of D'Arcy Burnell, of Winkburn, in Nottinghamshire, Esq., and, dying without issue in 1836, left his estates to his nephew, Broughton Benjamin Steade, Esq., who then assumed, by royal license, the surnames and arms of Pegge-Burnell.

The Yeldersley line, descended from Christopher Pegge, eldest son of Ralph, continued till the death of William Pegge in 1768, whose monument in the chancel, at Shirley, states that he was the last of that branch of the family.*

From Humphry Pegge, youngest son of Ralph, derived the Pegges of Osmaston, near Ashburne, whose last male representative, Sir Christopher Pegge, Knt., M.D., died in 1822, leaving an only daughter. He was grandson of the Rev. Samuel Pegge, rector of Whittington, the well-known antiquary, an account of whom may be found in the Gentleman's Magazine for the year 1796, written by his son, Samuel Pegge, Esq., F.S.A., also an author of considerable repute.

The arms borne by the different branches of this family are argent, a chevron between three piles sable. They appear upon the seal of Edward Pegge, of Beauchief, in 1666, quarterly with paly of six (argent and azure) for Strelley. Also upon seals appended to the Wills of Edward Pegge, of Shirley, in 1686, and Elizabeth, widow of Christopher Pegge, of Rodsley, in 1674; upon monuments, etc., at Beauchief Abbey, and upon the Almshouses founded by Christopher Pegge at Ashburne. The Chalice in the Church of Shirley also bears a shield with this coat, and the following inscription underneath it:—"Ex dono Margerie Pegge in usum Ecclesie de Shireley Anno Dom 1670." At the Herald's Visitations these arms were not proved, but they were afterwards

* A pedigree of this branch will be given in a future volume.

MARY, youngest dau., aged 10 years at her father's death. (Funerale Certi- ficate.) Married John West, of Hampton Poyle, co. Oxon, Esq., one of the Gentlemen Pensioners, temp. King Charles II. She died 8th May, 1686, and was buried on the 10th in St. Aldates' Church, Oxford. He died 8th Jan., 1682-3, et. 79. On their monument in West's Chapel in that Church, she is called "youngest daughter of Jarvis Kirke, of Green- hill, in the parish of Norton, in the county of Derby, Esq." Their young- est dau., Ann West, died 9 Oct., 1673, and was also buried there.

The authorities from which this Pedigree is compiled, are:—

- (1) The Norton Parish Register.
- (2) A paper in the Reliquary, vol. vi., 218, by John Slaigh, Esq.
- (3) Harl. MS., 1476, fol. 802. Add. MS. 5588, fol. 115.
- (4) My chief authority, however, is Colonel Chester, who himself revised the pedigree, and added almost everything to it which can lay claim to historical value.

registered at the College of Arms, with the following crest :—the sun rising in splendour, the rays alternately, or, argent, and sable. Over the monument to the Rev. Samuel Pegge, in Whittington Church, were the arms of Pegge, quarterly with gules, on a bend argent, three leopard's faces vert, for Stevenson of Unstone ; impaling azure, three escallops in pale or, between two flaunches ermine, for Clarke.

The subjoined pedigrees have been compiled from the following sources :—Dugdale's Visitation of Derbyshire in 1662 ; and Howard MS., fo. 81 (Coll. of Arms) ; Add. MSS. 6668, fo. 210, being some pedigrees written about 1710, in the collections of Adam Wolley, in the British Museum ; Wills chiefly in the Consistory Court at Lichfield ; the Parish Registers of Shirley, Ashburne, Osmaston, &c. ; Monumental Inscriptions, Deeds, and Family Papers ; Glover's History of Derbyshire ; and various other printed works of authority.
