

CORRIGENDA.

VOL. XX., NOTE 1, PAGE 222, 223.

- 2 Hen. 11—For Maleuenant read Malcuvenant.
16 Ditto —Rogerius Hai to precede Reginaldus de Warrenne.
3 Rich. 1—For Phillippus read Philipus.
1—6 John—For Appeltricham read Appeltricham.
13, 14 Ditto—For gillebertus read gillebertus.

VOL. XXI.

- Page 47, line 4 from the bottom, del. been.
Page 47, line 3 from the bottom, del. by.
Page 82, line 3, for 1438 read 1538.
Page 156, line 22, for £31 17s. 8d read £31 16s. 8d.
Page 176, line 13, for proficius read proficius.
Page 210, lines 22, 23—For £330 6s. 6d. read £330 16s. 6d.

PAGE 220.

- Note on page 27, line 12—For (8th of Henry IV.) read (9th of Henry IV.)
" " 19—For 42nd " " 43rd.
" " 16—For 1373 " " 1372.
" " 17—For 1371 " " 1370.
Note on page 27, line 18—For (4th of Edw. IV.) read 25th of Hen. VI.
Note on page 27, line 28—In lines 6 and 9 the Ibid applies to the following, and not to the preceding words.
In line 14 of the same note for Thus Lambarde never heard read Thin never heard.
In line 19—For 1358 read 1357.
" 20—For 34th read 35th.
" 21—For third read first.
" 23—For 35th read 36th.
" 24—For 33rd read 33rd, 34th.
" 26—For 34th read 35th.
In lines 5 and 4 from foot, for "Ibid, p. 72, col. i., Hasted," read Hasted,
Vol. IV. p. 72, col. i.

INDEX TO VOL. XXII.

A.

- Anecdote of a certain lord, 167.
 Annual meeting in 1869; why held at Steyning, Westgrinstead, and Knepp, 1. Ditto, ditto, papers read at, 2.
 Archæology and its divisions, 57.
 Ashburnham, Denny, son of Charles, Esq., 91.
 Arundel, Earls of, patrons of Westbourne, 78.

B.

- Bateman, Mr., his ten years diggings in Celtic and Saxon grave hills, 69.
 Battle field, tradition of, near Langford Farm, in Westdean, 62.
 Bear, Mr., the rector of Shermanbury, 165.
 Berwick; family names from 1606 to 1812, by the Rev. E. B. Ellman, 22. Indexes to parochial registers, given as a desiderata in an early vol. of the "Archæologia Cantiana," 22. Such indexes very desirable, as greatly facilitating a reference to such registers, 22. Under whose custody these church books are directed to be kept, 22. Their date, 22. Injunctions for their safe keeping not well observed, 23. During the reigns of Edward VI., Mary, and Elizabeth the registers much falsified, 23. The 70th canon passed in 1603, 23. What this canon enjoins, 23. Many of the earlier registers not in existence, 23. Others commence from the issuing of this canon, 24. The Berwick registers later still, 24. They commence as late as 1768, 24. To make up this deficiency other accessible sources of information made available, 24. 1606 the earliest date of such information in Berwick, 25. The diocesan registers at Lewes the same, 25. Act of the 52nd of

- George III. (1813), 25. These then adopted as the limits of the compilation, 25. Mode of proceeding explained, 25. Index compiled by the late Rector of Isfield to the registers of that parish, 25-6. Schedule of Berwick names, 1603 to 1812, 26 to 28. Marriages of non-residents, 1754 to 1812, 28-9.
 Bloett, Roland, ordered to destroy Knepp Castle, 18.
 Borne. See Westbourne.
 Borough Hill in Westbourne, 77.
 Bourne Manor with Stansted Chapel, 98.
 Buck hounds kept at Cowdray by Lord Montague, 189.
 Burrell, of Westbourne, 88.

C.

- Calceto, Priory of, 96.
 Campion, Miss, marriage with Mr. Courthope, 164.
 Caput Doble, 186.
 Carryll, John, writings of, 10, 11.
 Chalice of silver gilt, curious old, at Westbourne, 85.
 Chandler, the Rev. John, on the origin of the name Coldharbour, 196-7.
 Chilgrove, earth works to be found in a valley leading to, 62.
 Church books, registers so-called, 22.
 Cnapp. See Knepp Castle.
 Cnapp-ville, 13.
 Cobbe, the ancient Sussex family of, and others; deeds of relating to property in Arlington, by Mr. M. A. Lower, 116. How Mr. Lower became possessed of these deeds, 116. Etymology of the name Cobbe, 116. Occleve, quotation from, 117. Counties in which the name occurs as of gentle position, 117. Status of the Sussex Cobbes not known, 117. Parishes in the county in which they had lands,

117. At what time lands were called after the names of their possessors, 117. Deeds of John Cobbe and Alice his wife, 117. Of Philip Kobbe, of Erlington, 118. Of John Cobbe of ditto, 118. Of John Archer of Alfriston, referring to lands called Cobbis, 119. Of John Hore, of Erlington, 120. Of Edward Hereward and others, relating to the same lands, 120. John Hereward, a participator in Cade's rising in 1450, 121. John Jefferay and others to William Gilderege and others, conveyance of lands called Cobbys, at Erlington, 121. Who John Jefferay and William Gilderege were, 121. The Fries of Esterfield, in Beddingham, 122. Thomas Oxenbridge, of Brede, and others, to John Hore, grant of a tenement and its appurtenances, in Erlington, 122. Description of seals, 122. Also of the grants of John Hoore, of Erlington, to John Potman, of Radmelle, release, &c., 122. John Potman, junr., to John Smith, alias Chapman, grant of the same lands, 123. John Smith, alias Chapman, to Edmund Kendall, of Barwyke, grant of ditto, 123. Thomas Smith, alias Chapman, grant of the same land to Edmund Tyndall, 123. The connection between the Cobbes of Cobbe Court, in Selmeston, and the Cobbes of Arlyngton, not to be traced, 123. Cotes, Simon, the last of the Westbourne hermits, 98. Cowdray and its Buck Hall, 187. Cromwell's (Lord) injunctions, 23. Crowshall, concentric circle near, marked on the Ordnance Map, 62.

D.

Daie of Westbourne, 1591, 88. Dedication crosses at Westbourne, 80. Densworth, in Funtinton, Roman burials at, 57. Devenishe, of Westbourne, 88. Drewrey (Drury), of Watergate, 88. Dutelor, John de, of Westbourne, 96.

E.

Emmilsworth, now Emsworth, 87. Esop, Edward, of Chidham, a benefactor by will to Nutbourne Chapel, 98. Evans, Mr. John, on the opening of barrows on the top of Beachy Head, 191.

F.

Faulknors, of Warblington, mentioned in the Westbourne registers, 88. Ffarrington, of Westbourne, 88. Featherstonehaugh, Sir Harry, resident at Up Park, 162. Fitzalan, shield of, on a beam in the north porch of Westbourne Church, 81.

G.

George II. and Madame Valmonte, 170. Geriois, of Westbourne, 88. Gifford, John, Prior of Calceto; his lease of lands in Woodmancot, Westbourne, to John Fisher, his wife, and family, 97. Glebe, exchange of, between the Rector of Westbourne and the Earl of Scarborough, 96. Gunter, Ursuley, of Racton, 88.

H.

Halifax, anecdote of the Earl of, 82. Halsham, of West Grinstead, family of, 8. Hochangre, Jacob de, of Selbourne, the nature of his tenure there, 200. Holloway, Mr., of Rye, letter of, 185. Honeywood, Mr. Thomas, letter of, 189. Horsham, guild and chauntries of; by Mr. W. D. Cooper, 148. Two certificates of Sussex chauntries only, namely, those of Horsham and Winchelsea, have come down to us, 148. Account of property belonging to these guilds and chauntries to be found among the grants in the Augmentation Office, 148. When, and for what purpose, the Horsham guild was founded, 148. By and to whom license to found was granted, 148. Of what the guild consisted, and in whose honour it was founded, 148. Where situated in the parish, 149. Original endowment, and subsequent additions thereto, 149. When suppressed, property passed to the Crown, 149. Under the Crown, Lord High Admiral Somerset lessee, 149. Reverted to the Crown upon his attainder, 149. List of the brotherhood property when returned for sale, 149—152. Articles excepted, 152. Sir John Clerke chauntry priest, 152. His stipend, 152. His age, and to what period his pensions were paid, 152. Date of first notice of a chauntry, 153. To whom license to found one was granted, 153. Amount of endowment, and where situated,

153. To whom it was dedicated, and in what part of the church it was founded, 153. Copy of certified return, 153. Return of property belonging to it, and its date and value, 153. To whom such property was sold, 153—156. To whom the chauntry house now belongs, 156. Founder of Butler's chauntry, and to what purpose it was to be applied, 156. How returned in the certificate of chauntries, 156, 157. Situation of St. Nicholas's altar in the church, 157. When and to whom the chauntry house was sold, 157. Particulars of grants, 157. To Edward Lewknor, 158. To Sir Anthony Ancher, Knight, and another, 158, 159. The chauntry sold by William Brandon, 159. List of chaplains and their patrons, 159. Lands in Horsham belonging to the free chapel of St. Leonard in the Forest, 159. Hounslow, review at, 170. Hubert, Archbishop, a great upholder of the Church, 180.

I.

Ingram, Hugh, Esq., memorial window to the memory of, in Steyning Church, 3.

J.

James II., loyalty of the Carylls to, 163. Jollyffe, of Westbourne, afterwards of Petersfield, 88. Juliers, Eliza de, widow of John, Earl of Kent, bequest of Borne, 97.

K.

Kimpson, the Rev. Edward, Vicar of Rogate, 189. Knepp Castle, in Shipley; by the Rev. Edward Turner, 13. A minor castle of Sussex, 13. But little of its history known, 13. Situation of, 13. Its name, how spelt, and why called Knepp or Cnappe, 13. Cartwright's suggestion on this point, 14. A small part of the castle keep now only remaining, 14. Grose's account of the ruins refuted by later historians, 14, 15. The townfield, 15. Date of its erection considered, 15. Built by William de Braoze, probably as a hunting seat, and as a place of refuge in case of invasion, 16. Made the occasional residence of himself and his descendants, in peaceful times, as well, 16. King John the first to disturb that peace, and why, 16. Having seized upon the castle, he gave it to his second son, 17. His, and Queen Isabella's, visits to it, 17. The king's hunting establishment at Knepp, 18. Much timber cut by him here, 18. Castle fortified in 1214, by the king's command, 18. His letter to Roland Bloett, on the subject of its destruction, 18, 19. Probably his last regal act, 18. His rapid progress through Sussex at different times, 20. How described by Matthew Paris, 20. Knepp pond, 2.

L.

Ladyholt Park, the residence of the Carylls, 162. Lumleys, of Stansted, baptisms of, in Westbourne, 88. Ditto, ditto, burials at ditto, 89.

M.

Maltravers arms at Westbourne, 84. Markwick, of Catsfield, 162. Miscellanies, by the Editor, 185. Introductory observations, 185. The death of Mr. Holloway, of Rye, 186. His works, 186. His letter to the late Editor on the locality of Camera, 186. On Cowdray, 187. Mr. Honeywood's letter on his barrow researches at Bignor, 189-90. On a gold quarter noble of Edward II., found at Cocking, 190. Mr. Evans on barrows opened on the top of Beachy Head, 191. Discovery of two urns at Boxholt Bottom, by the gamekeepers of Sir G. C. Shiffner, Bart., 192-3. Suggestions arising out of the singularity of this discovery, 193. Mr. Ross' letter on discoveries made in and about Hastings, 194-5. On a box of old deeds belonging to the Corporation of Hastings, 195. Flint implements found in digging graves in the Hastings Cemetery, 196. The Rev. J. Chandler on the origin and meaning of the name Coldharbour, 196-7. The Editor on the term Valettus, Valectus, and Vadlett, 198. Quotations from Riley's "Memorials of London and London Life," 198-9. Blount's ancient tenures, 200. Sir Nicholas Harris describes Chaucer as chamber valet to Edward III., 200.

Mylle, two branches of, settled at Westbourne, 88.

N.

Names, antiquity of, in Westbourne, 90.

O.

Oates, Titus, removed from Hastings by a precept from Dover Castle, 196.

P.

Perfect rule in Westbourne, 89.
 Piscina of Westbourne church, engraved by Hussey, 80.
 Plague at Westbourne, 87.
 Pointz, marriage of, to the sister of the last Lord Montague, 188-9.
 Powlett, William, Esq., buried at West Grinstead, 12.
 Pre-historic burial in Sussex, notes on, by the Rev. Henry Smith, 57. Introductory observations, 57. Roman burials at Densworth, continuation of the account of, 57. Five other interments discovered at a later period, 57. Situation of sepulchral urns described, 58. Also of two Samian ware pateræ, 58. Small glass vessel found at the same place, 58. Examination of barrows on Bow Hill described, 59. Comb found in an urn there, 60. Ornamented similarly to one found at Uriconium, 60. Urns found with their mouths downwards, 62. Regular order observed in these deposits, 62. The spot again visited and examined September 20th, 61. Fragments of urns only found in the barrows opened, 61-2. Result of the examination of those on the eastern spur of Bowhill, 62. Those of chalk, Saxon, while those of flint were British, 62. Ancient British village found, and earthworks of a military character, 62. October 1st, 1869, a small hollow opened, 62-3. Afterwards a well-defined barrow, 63. Operation described, but no remains of anything discovered, 63. October 6th, urn found of the British type, with its mouth downwards, 63. Its measurement, 64. Description of this urn and of a smaller one disinterred, now in the museum at Chichester, 65. Roman roofing tiles found in a bank near Binderton, 65. Many British villages to be found on the downs, 65. One at the foot of Stoke Down described, 65. Summer camp at Bickley Bushes, 65. Series of hollows cut in the hill near these, 65. Later operations carried on upon the hill west of the Cuckmere Valley, near Alfriston, 66. These for the most part had been previously examined, 65. Description of the barrow first opened, 66-7. Ditto of the second north of this, 67. Mr.

Ade's urns here found, described in vol. ii., 67. Account of Mr. de St. Croix's operations on this barrow the previous year, 67-8. Description of the formation of this remarkable barrow, 69. Diary of operations upon it, 69 to 72. In the flint packing many fragments of urns and bits of bone found, 72. Also, at a distance from the interments, flint flakes, knives, and arrow heads, 73. Theory as to the formation of this barrow, 73 to 75. One other barrow opened, 75. Its position and remarkable formation described, 75-6. Dwellings discovered on the southern spur of Firlé Beacon, 76.

Promhill, now called Brumhill, site of the church of, 187.

R.

Reliquary at Shipley, description of, 20. Roodlofts, when discontinued, 82.

Ross, Mr. Thomas, extract of a letter from, 194-5.

Rye, the church of St. Mary at, by Mr. George S. Butler, 124. Introductory remarks, 124. A knowledge of heraldry necessary for the due appreciation of gothic architecture, 124. How attention had been awakened to the architectural features of this church, 124. No church superior to it in the South of England, 124. Its structure cruciform and cathedral like, 125. Description of the church, 125. Chapel, south of the chancel, dedicated to St. Nicholas, 125. That on the north side to St. Clare, 125. An establishment of Clarisse's at Rye, 125. Of the nunnery only the chapel remaining, 125. Description of the church continued, 125. Church twice destroyed by fire, and when, 126. Its font, 126. Windows in the north and south transepts alike, 126. Description of the eastern chancel window, 127. The piscina, 127. The inlaid brass slab of Thomas Hamon, 127. Brief account of him, and of what happened at his death, 128. Description of the chancel, 128. How separated from the two chapels, one on each side of it, 129. And how from the transepts, 130. Capital of a Norman column found with an early date upon it, 130. Curious inscription near the north end of the transept, 130. Two old brasses in the parish chest, 130. Also the sacramental flagon of the French Protestant refugees, 131.

Different times of their seeking refuge at Rye, 131. Description of the south porch, 131. Early deeds, directing reserved rents to be paid in this porch, 131. The stoup, 131. Flying buttress at the east end of the church, 132. Notice of the Society's contemplated visit to Rye in August, 132-3.

S.

Scarborough, the Countess of, donor of church plate to Westbourne, 85.

Shermanbury letters, by the Editor, 160. Addressed to Mrs. Lintott, of Shermanbury Place, Mrs. Hunt's great-grandmother, 160. Family history of Mrs. Lintott, 160. The Sussex Gratwicke's considerable landowners in the county, 160. Their adherence to the christian name of Roger, 161. Different mode of spelling the surname, 161. Description of Shermanbury Place, 161. By whom supposed to have been built, 161. Mrs. Cheale, of Shiprods, Mrs. Lintott's younger sister, 161. The situation and family of each, 161-2. How the estate became vested in the Challens, 162. How in Mrs. Hunt, 162. Both branches of the Gratwicke's now extinct, 162. History of the writers of the letters, 162. Different branches of the Caryll family, and where located, 163. Miss Eversfield to Mrs. Lintott, 164. Mrs. Caryll to the same, 166. The same to the same, 168-9. The Rev. W. Hasledine to Mrs. Lintott, 170-1. The same to the same, 172. The same to the same, 174. The same to Miss Cass, 176.

Sin, the royal, described, 170.

Sindle's farm in Westbourne, the endowment of Stansted chapel, 99.

Smith, Henry, Esq., commonly called "Dog Smith," memoir of, with a brief account of his Sussex charities, by the Rev. Edward Turner, 30. But little known of this wealthy and benevolent man, 30. Erroneous statements given of him even by the Surrey historians, the county in which he resided, 30. To rectify these, the object of the present paper, 30. Traditional history designates him "Dog Smith;" why, not known, 31. Supposed to have travelled the country as a beggar, 31. This is Bishop Gibson's account of him, 31. Evelyn's the same, 31. What he says of him stated, 31. Another Evelyn mistake as to the disposition of a portion of his property, 32. Salmon's equally erroneous account of him in his "Antiquities of Surrey," 32. An act of misconduct and its punishment stated, 32. Bray for many years secretary to his trustees and the manager of his charities, 32. Why he left his property in charity rather than to his relatives, 33. These erroneous statements a proof of how little was known of his history, 33. Suggestion as to why Mr. Smith was called "Dog Smith," 33. Mr. Gwilt's opinion of the cause of his being called a beggar, 33. The veritable history of his birth and parentage, 34-5. That he was not of low extraction shown, 35. Little known of his early life, 36. His wealth probably acquired as a London merchant, 36. Of his wife nothing known, 36. A considerable Surrey and Sussex landowner, 36. Many Sussex gentry among his trustees, 36. His life embittered by disputes among his trustees generally, 36. A member of the Salter's Company, and Alderman of the Ward of Farringdon, 36. The statement of his being a London silversmith a mistake, 36-7. How his mercantile history became lost, 37. His charities in his life time numerous, 37. List of his trustees, 37. Those of his real different from those of his personal estate, 37. First objects of his charities, 37. Vexations and troubles arise, 38. This part of his history obscure, 38. Mr. Gwilt's conjecture as to its cause, 38. Led to a Chancery suit and decree in 1665, 38. In what way his property was to be disposed of under that decree, 38-9. Much of his money previously improperly appropriated and lost, 39. A deed of uses executed, 39. Trusteeship and management of the trust fund offered to Christ's Hospital and declined, 39. Churchwardens to receive rents of lands assigned to each parish, 39. Second objects of his charities stated, 39. Penalty of neglect of duty in disposing of the trust Funds, 40. Fuller's account of him in his "Worthies," 40-1. When he died, and statement of his Sussex properties at that time, 41. List of his earliest trustees, 42. Why, in the disposition of his charitable fund, some parishes were chosen in preference to others, 43-4. In their purchase of estates of each other no imputation to be cast on his trustees, 44. List of special bequests, 44-5. Allocation of property by his trustees in 1641, 46. Description of the mural monument in Wandsworth church to his memory,

- and inscription upon it, 46-7. Flat paving stone and inscription, supposed to have marked his grave, found, 47. Concluding observations, 48-9.
- Stansted chapel in the manor, but not in the parish of Westbourne, 99. Ditto, ditto, rebuilt by Mr. Way, 99.
- Stane Street, direction of, 190.
- Steyning Church, description of, by the Rev. Edward Turner and Mr. G. M. Hills, 2. Present church a portion only of a larger, 3. Cartwright's description of it externally before restoration, 3. The tower rudely constructed, and of Elizabethan date, 3. Disfigured by buttresses, 3. The chancel and its memorial window, 3. Upper story Norman windows of the nave, 3. Peculiarity connected with their construction, 3. Original windows and doors in the north aisle, 3. Fabric cruciform, 3, 4. Description of arches, and their columns, 4. Ditto of clerestory windows, 4. Nave shortened westward, 4. How shewn, 4. Original length not now to be traced, 4. Eastern end also much altered, 4. Position of central tower in its cruciform state, 4. Fragments of foundations met with in the churchyard, 4. Its architectural ornamentation, 4. Capitals of column zigzagged, 4. Clerestory windows the same, 4. Probably built by the monks of Fescamp in Normandy, 4. Dedicated to St. Andrew, 4. Ethelwulf, a Saxon King, supposed to have been buried here, 4. Also St. Cuthman, 4. Church still under restoration, 4. Originally larger, but reduced to a parochial standard, 5. Situation of the College of Secular Canons, 5. Monasteries usually built near a stream of water, 5. Why the church stands on the side of a hill, 5. Nave erected about 1150, 6. Proofs of the church having been built at different times, 6. Chancel less ornamented than other parts, 6. Evidences discovered of its having been a cross church, 6. Soundness of the original work, 6. Curious carving on a column near the chancel, 6. Proposed reredos, 6, 7. Stone used alternately with flints in the construction of the present tower, 6. Locality of this stone, 7.
- Steyning Parsonage, erected of brick, with mullion windows, 7. Date of the house James I., 7. Entrance hall, now dining-room, 7. Fitted up with carved oak panneling, 7. Carved stones in the garden, 7.
- T.
- Tankerville, the Countess of, 167.
- Tichbourne, Barbara, married at Westbourne, 88.
- U.
- Up Park, in East Harting, the seat of Sir H. Featherstonehaugh, 162.
- Urns found in Boxholt Bottom, 192.
- V.
- Valettus, Valectus, Vadlett, &c., origin of the title of, 198.
- W.
- Walliston, of Westbourne, 88.
- "Watchways," the; where situate and why so-called, 190.
- Welles, Simon de, notes on a biography of, by the Rev. F. H. Arnold, 178. Certain features of the cathedral and its close associated with his name, 178. The reign of King John not commended by historians, 178. This king, under the influence of Simon de Welles, a benefactor to Chichester, 178. Hay's account of him not explicit, 178. Dallaway's equally scant, 178. His mistake in his name, 178. MS. life of him among the papers of the Dean of Chichester, 179. There stated to be a Somersetshire man, 179. Hugh Bishop of Lincoln, and Joceline, Bishop of Bath, both described as "De Welles," his relatives, 179. His previous history, 179. Dispute as to the patronage of the church of Feversham, and its consequences, 180. King John grants to him and his successors, in the See of Chichester, a large charter of privileges, 180. His gift of the Kentish church of Bapchild, promised to Seffrid at the dedication of the Cathedral Church of Chichester, to the Dean and Chapter, 181. Godwin's mistake in the date of his Episcopacy, 181. Where he died and the date of his death, 181. What Mr. Foss considers his name to have been, 181. Called Fitz Robert in two charters, 181. Robert de Whattelai, who was murdered by his wife, supposed to have been his father, 181. Her punishment, and the tragical circumstances connected with the murder, probably induced him to change his name, 182. When first styled the "Elect of Chichester," 182. The Cathedral destroyed by fire and rebuilt; re-consecrated by Seffrid II., 182. Therefore complete when Simon de Wells came to the See, 182. The - two most interesting cathedral circumstances connected with his episcopacy, 182-3. Bequeaths 100 marcs to found a chantry in commemoration of Hubert, Archbishop of Canterbury, 184. Where he was interred not known, 184. Dean Hook's high opinion of him, 184.

- Westbourne, parochial history of, by the Rev. J. H. Sperling, 77. The most south-westerly parish in the county, and hence its name, 77. Extent and geological structure of the parish, 77. Situation and population of the village, 78. Of its five hamlets three are on the coast and the other two to the north of the church, 78. Three of these had chapels of their own, 78. The church dedicated in honour of the Decollation of John Baptist, 78. Description of the church, 78. On two occasions considerably altered by the Earls of Arundel, 78. No mention in Domesday of a church at Westbourne, 79. Vestiges of Norman work, 79. The fabric of chancel transition work, 79. Walls four feet thick, 79. Style of the old east window, 79. Traces of single light windows in the side walls, 80. Ancient chancel fenestration preserved, 80. Coigns of the east wall double, 80. Dedication crosses upon them, 80. During Robert Pube-low's incumbency the whole church recast in a more ornate style, 80. In what it consisted, 80. Work similar in detail to that of Arundel church, 80. Workmen probably, therefore, from the Earl of Arundel's Norfolk and Suffolk estates, 80. Another great alteration a century later, 81. All the alterations poor in detail, but the general effect good, 81. Evidences of the period when these alterations were made, 81. During the next three centuries the church sadly debased by injudicious alterations, 82. In what they consisted, and when again re-altered, 82. Spire given by Lord Halifax, of Stansted, 82. Anecdote connected therewith, 82. Other debased alterations, 82-3. Sir William Burrell's notice of Westbourne church, 83. Chancel of the church restored, by Mr. Christian, in 1863, and the nave in 1865, 83. Church enriched by many costly gifts of furniture and stained glass, 84. Description of windows so given, 84-5. East window, description of, and by whom designed, 84. Costly screen between the nave and chancel, given by the rector, 85. The organ given and subsequently enlarged, by Mrs. Dixon, of Stansted, 85. Curious sacramental plate described, 85. Account of the church bells, 86. Also of the parochial registers, 86-7. Approximation of the population in the 15th and 16th centuries from this source, 87. Great mortality in 1609, 87. Unusually light one in 1647 and 1648, 88. Names of well-known Sussex families to be found in the registers, 88. Years in which no weddings are recorded, 88. Average of weddings, 88. Burial of persons described as gentlemen, or who are called Mr., 88-9. Singular entries, 89. Cover memoranda, 89. Note of churchwardens from 1599 to 1613, 89. Collections on briefs, 90 and 92. Singular coincidence as to names, 90. Second vol. of parochial registers, 1653 to 1769, inclusive, 90. Westbourne little disturbed during the Commonwealth, 90. The reason why, 90. Appointment of parish registrar noted, 90. Description of marriage entries changed in consequence, 90. Early notice of publication of banns, 91. Notice of public penance in the church, 91. Burial tax imposed in 1694, 91. How the burials of persons of middle rank are entered, 91. List of such persons from 1666 to 1731, 91. Induction of Mr. Richard Withers referred to, 93. Maximum of population attained in 1825, 93. The incumbency, 93. Peculiarity of the living, 93. Rectory a sinecure, 93. Scheme for the consolidation of the tithes, 93. Mr. Newland, the last rector under the old system, 93. The Earls of Arundel the early patrons of the rectory and lords of the manor, 93. The rectors the patrons of the vicarage, 93. Later patrons, 93. Value of the living at different periods stated, 94. Two terriers extant, 95. Advowson sold to the ecclesiastical commissioners, 95. Modern arrangement of incumbency, 95. Situation of the ancient rectory house, 96. How destroyed, 96. Description of it, 96. Situation of the vicarage house, 96. List of portions paid out of Westbourne, 96. Its parochial chapels, 97-8. Rectors of Westbourne, and from what sources compiled, 99. Vicars of ditto, 109. Curates of ditto, 113.
- Westgrinstead Church and Place, by the Rev. Edward Turner, 7. Church dedicated to St. George, 7. Consists of two aisles of the same length, separated by an arcade, 7. Chancel at the east end of the north aisle, 7. No chancel arch, 7. Tower in the - middle of, and the same width as, the south aisle, 7. Finished off externally with a shingled spire, 8. Windows originally lancet-shaped, 8. Present windows, for the most part, of much later date, 8. Font square and of Norman type, 8. Chapel of St. Mary at the east end of the south aisle, 8. Why called "The Manorial Burial Place," 8. Its date, 8. The Braoze family, of Bramber Castle, Lords of the Manor of Westgrinstead, 8. Halshams, of Clothalls, the next lords, 8. Their history, 8. Inlaid brass figure of Philippa, the wife of John Halsham, in this chapel, 8, 9. Also inlaid figures of the same metal, of Sir Hugh and Lady Halsham, 9. Description of these figures, 9. Sir Hugh at Agincourt, 9. Both memorials figured in Boutell's monumental brasses, 10. Branch of the Wiston Shirleys, the next lords of the manor, 10. Sir Edward Carryll, of Harting, the next lord, 10. By a descendant of his the manor sold to Sir William Burrell, 10. Old manorial residence taken down, 10. Alexander Pope a visitor to Mr. John Carryll here, 10. Incident which led to the poem of the Rape of the Lock, supposed to have happened here, 10. John Carryll no mean poet, 10. His writings, 10, 11. Sir Thos. Carryll, of Bentons, in Shipley, 11. Burrell monuments in St. Mary's chapel, 11. Marks of a rood loft in its western arch, 11. Western portion of south aisle a private chapel of the Wards of Champions, 12. The Powlett monument in it, 12. Chapel entered by a Norman arched doorway in the south wall, 12. Remains of other branches of this family in the church, 12. Large oak timber porch on the North side of the church, 12. Ornamented niche for a statuette in its gable, 12.

- Westgrinstead parsonage, 12. North part of the date of James I., 12. Constructed of brick, with stone-mullion windows, 12. Dining-room fitted up with carved oak furniture, by the late rector, and by him left as an heirloom to his successors, 12. Curious specimens of old painted glass in the dining-room window, 12.
- Whittington, Richard, and his cat, 33-4.
- Wisborough Green church mural painting, by the Rev. Edward Turner, 134. Where in Sussex churches mural paintings have already been found, 134. The history of the discovery of the Wisborough Green painting, 136. Drawing made of it, and submitted by Mr. Napper to the S. A. S. at Mayfield in 1868, 136. Submitted the next year to the Surrey A. Society, 136. Correspondence it led to submitted to the writer, by Mr. Napper, 138. Mr. Butterworth and Mr. Waller's letters, 138. Mistake made in thinking Wisborough Green to be in Surrey, 138. Mr. Waller's explanation of the painting, 139. The writer of this paper to Mr. Waller, 140. Mr. Waller's reply, 141. To what saints Wisborough Green church is dedicated, 141. Letter to Mr. W. S. Ellis to enquire how far the three shells on the purse may be considered as heraldic, 142. Mr. Ellis's reply, 142. Three scallop shells the arms of the Mitchells, 143. Probable object of the painting in Wisborough Green church, 143. Broughton's account of the church of St. James, Compostella, and the pilgrimages made to it, 143. Situation of the painting in the church, 144. Other paintings of an inferior character found in other parts of the church, 144-5. The day of doom supposed to be represented against the tower, 145. Catharine wheels also discovered, 145. Situation of the parish, 145. Description of the church and its style of architecture, 145-6. Dimensions of the painting, 147.
- Whittington, Gloucestershire, and its rectory described, 170-1.
- Wivelsfield church, by the Rev. Henry John Rush, 50. Dedicated to St. John Baptist, 50. Situation inaccessible in early days, 50. Not mentioned in the Norman survey, 50. Originally a chapel of ease to Ditchling, 50. Disunited about the middle of the 15th century, 50. Given by William de Warren to the Priory of St. Pancras, Lewes, 50. Picturesqueness of its situation, 51. Parish consists of about 4,000 acres, 51. Population much increased by the building of the County Lunatic Asylum in it, 51. Its style of architecture difficult to determine, and why, 51. Messrs. Slater and Carpenter the architects employed in its restoration, 51. Of what the church consisted previously, 51. Ancient monuments in the church and churchyard, 52. Church restored and parsonage built mainly through the liberality of the Tanner family, 52. Mr. Carpenter's description of the church, 53 to 56. In removing the gallery Hebrew texts of scripture discovered on the wall behind it, 56.