

PN 1359 -Metadata for Engineers' plan

Project PN 1359 is one of a series of projects that took place in Derby. The various sites were grouped together under the name 'Connecting Derby'. These were published in a single volume:-

Hewitson, C. (ed) 2012 Derby: The Western Suburbs. The Archaeology of the Connecting Derby Inner Ring Road, Birmingham Archaeology Monograph Series 14, BAR British Series, 565

The report was finished after the closure of Birmingham Archaeology and not all the digital data associated with the various Derby projects could be found in the digital archive. PN 1359 is without plans or plates. In order to make this report comprehensible the engineers' plan, which shows the area covered by PN1359, has been added to the archive.