

DAY OF ARCHAEOLOGY IN MACEDONIA 3

June 30, 2012 NGO Archaeologica Archaeological Media, Day of Archaeology 2012, Maritime Archaeology archaeological site, Archaeology, Carolyn S. Snively, Gettysburg College, Goran Sanev, http, Macedonia, maritime archaeology, Michail Stojanovski, Museum of Macedonia, Republic of Macedonia, Skopje, Underwater archaeology, United States

We already sent our documentary and our letter of participation. Our third post is about underwater archaeology and making documentaries for archaeological sites.

Some of our colleagues are doing underwater archaeology, so in the following video you can see their working day, little bit different of ours working days on the field

<https://youtu.be/v6GoZB8NbaY>

NGO Archaeologica together with MA Goran Sanev and Michail Stojanovski, archaeologists from Museum of Macedonia made film about the archaeological site Golemo Gradiste – Konjuh in Macedonia. Every year this site is researched by international team of archaeologists from Museum of Macedonia and Ms. Carolyn S. Snively from Gettysburg College, USA and hers students. The film is in post production and it will be presented in about few months.

<https://youtu.be/JgPCgWNqqPs>

<https://youtu.be/78Q9ZsWiLNU>

This is how we celebrated The Day of Archaeology 2012. See you next year with more informations and new archaeological findings. Congratulations about the Day of Archaeology.

NGO Archaeologica – Skopje, Republic of Macedonia