

#ARCHIVELOTTERY – PART 1: GENERAL FINDS

July 11, 2014 Adam Corsini Day of Archaeology 2014, Finds, Museum Archaeology #ArchiveLottery,LAARC

Wow! What a start to LAARC Lottery! Big thanks to all of those that have been suggesting shelf numbers. Here's a selection of the the results:

@jasonmarkwebber went for shelf 1 and it produced this lovely complete vessel from Brentford excavations

Spot the Elephant

There were a few nice bits of animal bone that @PhaseSI, @lizcwhite & @fond_ras picked:

Toothy grin

Horny!

Toothy!

A nice decorated pipe for @GiraffeCorner

Charles was 'ere?

Some stone ware for @lisamarieprints and @MattArnold2009:

English Stoneware

German stoneware

And several people interested in shelf 666 – which brought up a modern demonstration pot that was made when they dug up the Roman kilns in Highgate Wood 😊

Pretending to be Roman

Next up it's our Registered finds: objects assigned an individual number (akin to an museum accession number) because they are of particular interest. Tweet @MuseumofLondon or @AdamCorsini using #dayofarch or #ArchiveLottery or message us below, picking a number between 1 and 546 to discover, completely at random, what that shelf holds... – and we'll post back our results around 1pm
