

#ARCHIVELOTTERY 2016 PART 5 – PAPER RECORDS

July 27, 2016 Adam Corsini Archives, Day of Archaeology 2016, Explore Posts, Museum Archaeology #ArchiveLottery, Artefacts, Museum Archaeology, Museum of London, Records

To wrap up the day it's time for my favourite section – the archaeological records.

In among our items this hour have been:

A photo of The head of Serapis from the Temple of Mithras excavations

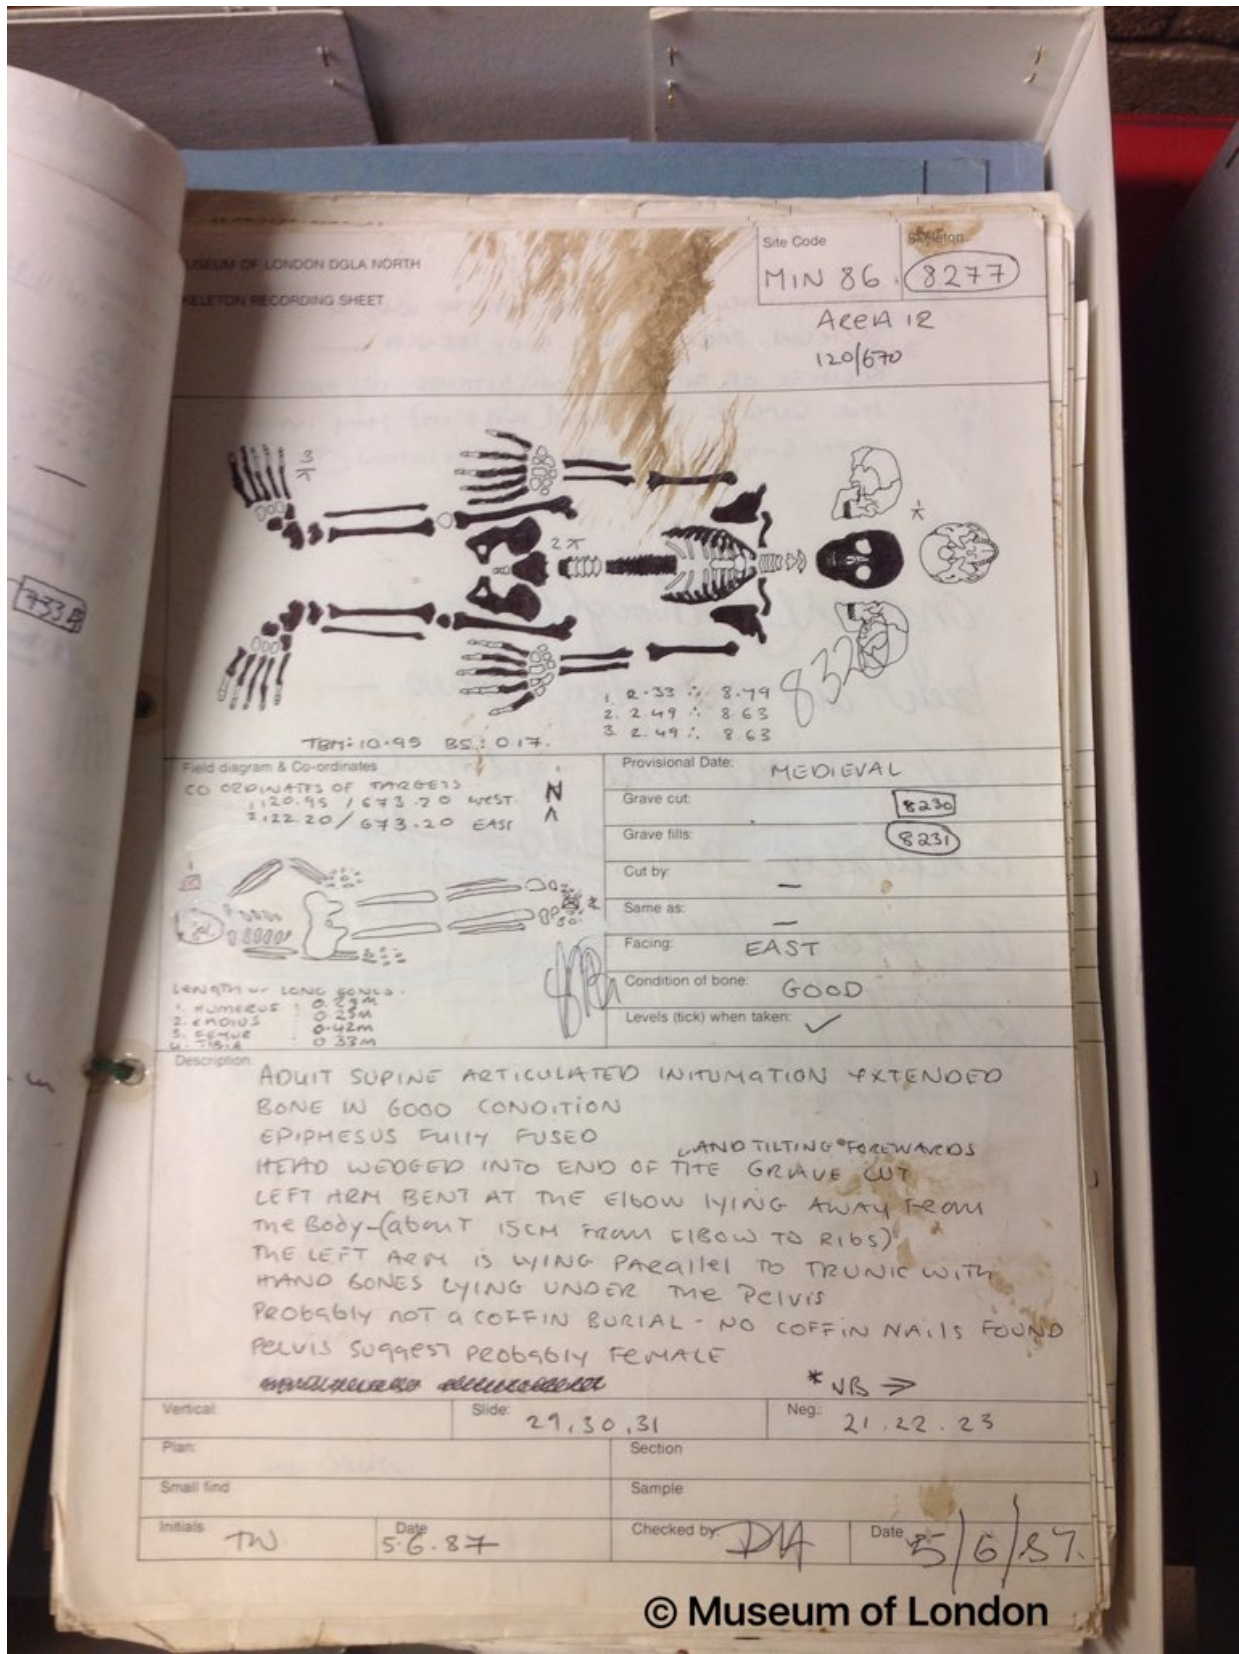

A nice photo of an archaeologist's backside

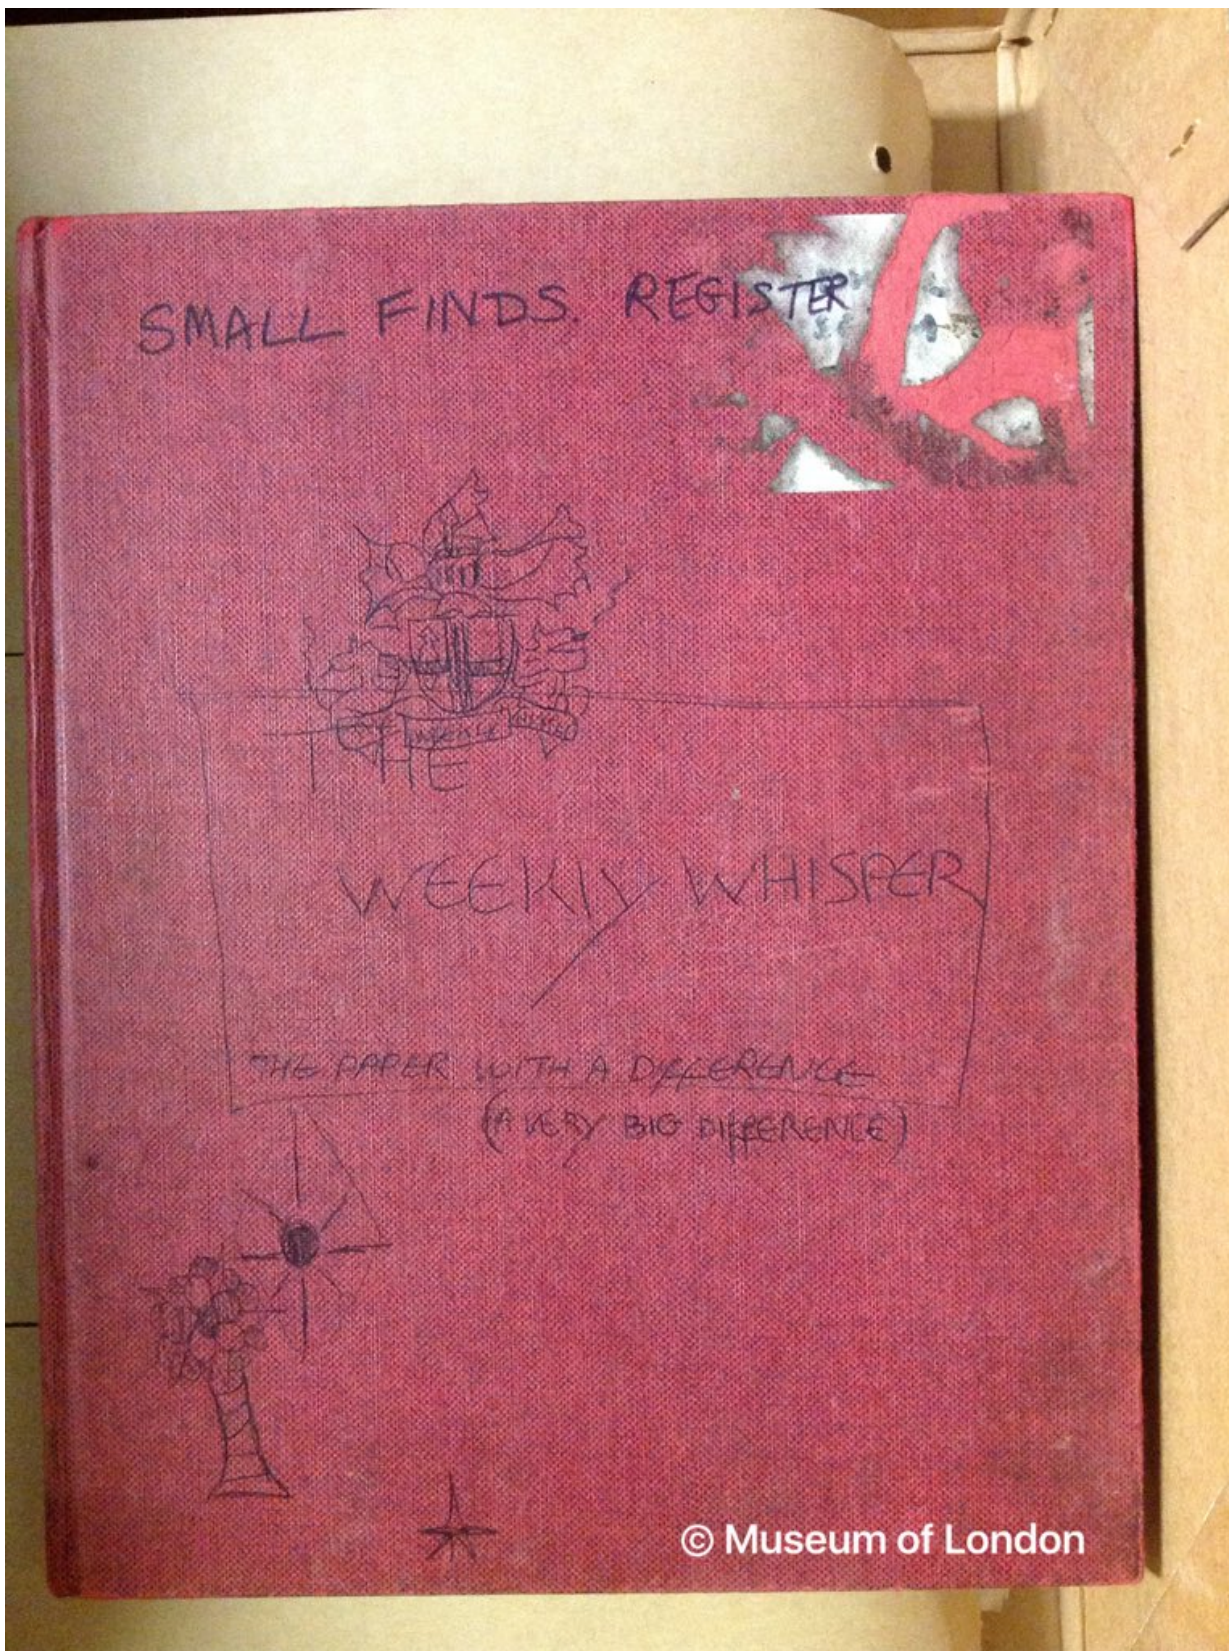

© Museum of London

A skeleton recording sheet from the Royal Mint site

And a great graffiti covered front cover to a small finds notebook from Aldgate excavations

A massive thanks to everyone who offered a number today and joined in with our #ArchiveLottery.

Have a great #DayOfArch and hope to see you on a visit to the Archive store soon 😊