Colossus 2017 raster filenames

Photograph filenames consists of four parts:

Search Area

The search areas are denoted by one or two characters followed by a number. A plan of the search areas can be seen on page 25 of the project report.

Object Number

Each object found was numbered in the order it was found within the search area.

Photo number

If there is more than one photographs of an object each different photograph is numbered using a sequential sequence of numbers.

Extension

The file extension denotes the type of raster file.

So for example C3_4_2.dng is photo number 2 of object number 4 in search area C3 and it is a digital negative file (dng)