

XVIII.—MUSTERS for NORTHUMBERLAND in MDXXXVIII.

Views of the Musters taken in Tindale, Coquetdale, Bamburgh, and Glendale Wards, Northumberland, in 30 and 31 Henry VIII., from the Original Record in the Chapter-house, Westminster : with an Index and Synopsis of its Contents, by the Rev. JOHN HODGSON.

DEAR SIR,

IN April, 1829, Mr. CAYLEY, Keeper of the Records in the Chapter-house and Augmentation Offices, Westminster, showed me about half of the copy of the accompanying Record, which he had directed to be made, as a contribution of materials by himself, for my work on Northumberland ; but at the time of his death, in 1833, his intention of having it completed had not been proceeded with. According to a resolution of the last anniversary meeting of this Society, JOHN HODGSON, esq., of Elswick, applied to Mr. DEVON, of the Chapter-house, to complete the transcript, which I have now the pleasure of forwarding to you, accompanied with an index and synopsis of its contents.

Of the importance of this document, as well as its obscurity and imperfections, considered in the light of statistical, and topographical, and geneological material, much might be said ; but I think the following extract from the letter with which Mr. HODGSON accompanied to me the document, will answer all the purposes of any more elaborate inquiry into its value :—

“ I have been much amused with running over the names in some of the districts of the county with which I am acquainted ; and it is curious to observe how many of the names which now prevail in particular parishes, are still to be met with at this early period. Some families of very humble station may here see their ancestors occupying the same places as themselves at an interval of three hundred years. To give an instance, in the parish of Carham the office of parish clerk has descended from father to son of the same name of Thomas Spencer as long as the registers are in existence. In the Muster Roll, the first name under Carham is Thomas Spencer, who in all probability held the same office then which has been filled by so many of his posterity ; for all the land in the township belonging to Kirkham Priory, the parish clerk might fairly rank as the principal layman."

It is perhaps also worthy of remark, that this is the oldest and most copious known list of persons belonging to Northumberland who were all alive at the same time ; and that, like the lists in the Orders for Watching the Borders in 1552, and the more recent tables of Freeholders of the County, it does not merely contain the names of persons who belonged to the community privileged by property to sit on juries, or vote at elections for knights of the shire, but the names of the whole mass of the people in the districts to which it extends, who were liable to bear arms in the militia of the county, both as cavalry and infantry : so that not only families distinguished by residence for a long series of generations on patrimonial property, may here expect to meet with the names of their ancestors, in the returns of the villages in which they then resided ; but the village hind and country artisan may here search for the names of their progenitors ; and many that are now wealthy, trace the progress of their family prosperity from ancestors of humble origin, but from spirits who lived in the most chivalrous and warlike of all the counties of England, and at a time of as high religious and political excitement as England ever since witnessed.

I am,

DEAR SIR,

Yours truly,

J. H.

John Adamson, esq.

(a) BRADFORTH.—John Leton is mentioned as one of the inhabitants of this village, and John Leighton, gent., is at present the principal proprietor of the adjoining village of Harnham.

(b) Written in the record Futon.

(c) HALTON.—See Sir Reginald Carnaby's return for his establishment, under Hexham, where he had his chief establishment.

(d) KIRKHETON was anciently a chapelry in the parish of Chollerton.

(e) PLENNOLAS.—Under this name Wyllymoteswick is included, as Nicholas Ridley, esq., the proprietor of it is in this return. Probably the latter return of 13 horsemen and 16 footmen is for some other place, or part of this district.

(f) The LONGWITTON people are all returned with George Raymes at the head of them, and as "naither well horssid nor harnysid."

(g) COSLE.—Two men in this district are returned as unable.

(h) HEX'L TOWNE.—Of the 81 men here grouped together as having neither horse nor harness, 31 are returned with "no hors and smally harnysed," and 10 without any description.

(i) HEXS'M.—This lot 105 of Hexham men are variously described, only one had both horse and harness, 31 were able with horses without harness, 11 had harness but no horses, 34 neither horse nor well harnysed, and 28 neither horse nor harness.

(k) Sir Reynold Carnaby, knight, lord of Halton, and Ayden Castle, in the Parish of Corbridge, after the dissolution of the religious houses, resided in the Priory of Hexham, of the site of which he had a grant from Henry VIII.

(l) HERLE—The parish now called Kirkharle, in the earliest mention of it, is called Harla. If Kirkharle was, however, really meant to be the place here called Herle, it is singular that no one of the name of Loraine is here mentioned in its muster; but see under West Matfen, Stamfordham parish.

(m) BOTERLAW.—What is Futon, with 7 men having neither horse nor harness, which follows Boterlaw? Is it intended for Nuton? [Not until too late was it discovered that the word was futum, and really refers to the unmounted condition of the third batch of Butterlaw men. G. B. R.]

(n) Besides these, ACUM had 8 men who had harness, but no horse.

(o) Between Bingfield and Est Alwent, 6 men "able with horse and harness," and 14 having "naiter horse nor harness," are returned without any notice of the place to which they belonged.

(p) In WEST MATFEN, besides 21 men returned "able with horse and harness," there are 4 described as "not well horsid and no harness." There is much ambiguity and confusion in these returns for the Matfens. Certainly the John Leren, Robert Leren, and Matho Leren, whose names stand together, were Lorrens of Kirkharle. See the returns for three more of the name.

(q) Besides the 16 in "INGOWE," neither well horsed nor harnesssed, there were 3 "fotemen with speres without harness."

(r) Sir Richard Algood, who stands at the head of the WHELPINGTON men able with horse and harness, was vicar of of that parish: so that the clerical office did not exempt men in Henry the Eighth's days from bearing arms. This is one of the very few, and I believe first, instances of this place bearing the addition of Kirk to its true original name of Whelpington.
