

The Editorial Team is pleased to present this triple volume – 7, 8 & 9 for the years 2003-2005 inclusive, which now brings the Society up-to-date with its publications. The previous issue of Church Archaeology, Volumes 5 & 6, was a double journal for the years 2001 and 2002. The front cover was erroneously dated 2004.

We have replaced 'News' and 'Round-up' with short but substantive articles and invited views by knowledgeable experts on the more burning issues of the day under the heading 'Topical Issues, Recent Work'. Comments on both will be considered for publication. Readers will note the large numbers of new books and readers in this issue, the editing of which was shared by Jackie Hall and Duncan Sayer (who will be the sole editor for this section in Volume 10).

We hope to broaden the Journal's international appeal by publishing more papers from abroad, and would welcome articles and letters relating to the buildings, monuments, policy issues and archaeology of other faiths than Christianity.

Our thanks to those scholars who gave up their valuable time to referee papers and the many helpful comments passed on to authors. We look forward to receiving more material for the next publication.
