Trench plan:

The footings were excavated to a depth of between 0.7m and 0.8m and the stratigraphy encountered consisted of between 0.15m and 0.35m of loose topsoil over a mid brown sandy silt subsoil which ranged in thickness from 0.4m to 0.6m thick, this was over a natural deposit of mid orange soft sand. A large modern pit was observed cutting the subsoil which was filled with loose topsoil like material with frequent ceramic building material and broken china. No significant archaeological features were observed.
