WILDERSPOOL [STOCKTON HEATH KILN]

May. Antiquary Sept 1900 p. 258-9

3 pottery kilns under west side of Kimberley Drive, nearly opposite to junction with Dunderdald Avenue, Stockton Heath, 100' east from Via.

At right angles to Via c 80 yds from M/c. S. Canal.
Trans of Warrington Lit & Phil. 1894-5
Trans of Chester Arch Soc. 1876 p. 163

Date of occupation H. Thompson

Main

Possibly an Aquatic fort but little occupation well to support this & if so - brief occupation.

Main industrial occupation perhaps as early as c. 85 or 90. Particularly intense in first half of the second century but situation in second half is less clear; contraction before end of century & perhaps actual abandonment in early 3rd, possible brief reoccupation late 3rd - early 4th

WILDERSPOOL KILNS

Warrington R. R. T. May, p. 56 Situated together beneath the west side of the new street named Kimberley Drive is Stockton Heath, at a point a little north of its junction with Dundonald Avenue, and  $\frac{1}{4}$  mile south from the river bank & principal fortification at Wilderspool. 3 Kilns mentioned & masses of broken pottery of various types including mortars.

Names found on fragments from waste surrounding kilns ANIACO; ICOTASI* ; ~~BRICCS, BRVCT*~~; p. 60. It is not true that they are all in "the same kind of local red ware." Suggested other settlements there.

Wildesport, Chesnie.

9 + 27 etc. really like Rhaetian B3 entirely except for having no concavity below bead.

Number of nodules with end of spot missing impressive.

The number of sub-Rhaetian are reduced by number with indeterminate slip; color not always discernible & sometimes slip has all gone. So that number is a minimum - as also number with whatever even slip.
