Introduction

Archaeology South-East (ASE), the contracting division of the Centre for Applied Archaeology (CAA), Institute of Archaeology (IoA), University College London (UCL), was commissioned by Ms. Camilla von Greyerz to undertake an archaeological watching brief during groundworks associated with the installation of a new low voltage cable at Viewswood House, Coopers Green, Buxted, East Sussex.

Results

The eastern c. 40m of the cable trench was monitored and a sequence of natural orange Weald Clay with topsoil 0.3m thick was seen throughout the trench. There were no finds or archaeological features.

The western portion of the cable trench lay within the area of the new house development which is terraced into the north-south slope before the construction of the house and swimming pool. No archaeological features were seen in the exposed areas of natural deposits.

Conclusions

No archaeological features, deposits or finds were recorded in the watching brief.
