

OBITUARY

The Society has to deplore the loss of several members amongst whom were Mr. JAS. EDGE-PARTINGTON, the eminent authority on the South Seas and a famous collector of objects from the Pacific Islands. He issued several series of lithographed albums of weapons, tools, etc., in the last decade of the 19th century. These form an extremely valuable item when they occur for sale.

Mr. W.H.. WILLIAMS was the author of a little book on Burnham, which was noticed in the last volume of the Records (p. 438).

Mr. R.N.G. BINGLEY was lessee of Notley Abbey, and his work in uncovering the tiles and masonry in the cloister was noticed in our last number.
