

Plate 1: Excavation area, looking northeast towards Carraw Farm.

Plate 2: Excavated building remains, looking north towards the Military Road.

Plate 3: Wall feature (101), looking north towards the Military Road.

Plate 4: Wall feature (101), looking south.

Plate 5: Excavation area, looking east.

Plate 6: Details of wall (101) with exposed rubble (102) within the buildings interior, looking east.

Plate 7: The Vallum defensive ditch at the southern end of the Carraw Farm complex, looking east.

Plate 8: Looking northeast towards Carraw Farm from inside the Vallum, showing other earthworks (possible buried wall lines) towards the farm buildings.

Plate 9: Visible earthworks immediately west of Carraw Farm are likely to belong to Hadrian's Wall. Photograph taken from Milecastle 32, looking east.