

A: A vector representation of shipping traffic record density, with each route being superimposed on each other.

B: A raster analysis layer that is showing the true values of the route intersections.

	Date:	03/02/04	Revision Number:	0
	Scale:	N/A	Illustrator:	KMN
	Path:	W:\15152\Drawing Office\Report Figures\EHreports\04_01\cdr

In order to gain a true representation of the density of records for individual voyages, the results had to be rasterised to gain the correct values of the intersections between the routes.

Figure 5