

Appendix 1: Photographs

New fencing defines the southern side of the site

The exhausted former Copper Hill Quarry defines the northern side of the site

The Ancaster Gap

Trench 3: just machined

WNW

NW

NNW

N

NNE

Photo No.1 Composite photograph taken from the southeast corner of the site. The site consists of part of a single arable field which characteristically has a slight rise towards the middle, and dips slightly down towards the north at the north end of the field. The site is located on the flat upland of Willoughby Heath, south of the Ancaster Gap.