Watching brief

Robin Murdoch – Scotia Archaeology

NT 0043 7716 A watching brief was maintained between 22 September and 1 October 2010 during ground works associated with the construction of an extension to the rear of a dental practice at 22-24 High Street, Linlithgow. The footprint of the new building was similar to that of a recently-demolished structure which overlay the scant remains of an earlier one, perhaps of 18th-century date, identified as the foundations of its north and west walls.
