List of Figures

1. Heel bowl dating from c1650-1670. Not burnished; no internal bowl cross; all of the surviving rim is bottered and milled; stem bore  $6/64''$ . (Area B/4; Context [2124], Lot 149)
2. Spur bowl dating from c1660-1710. Average burnish; no internal bowl cross; no rim surviving; stem bore  $7/64''$ . (Area B/5, Context [2076], Lot 91)
3. Heel bowl dating from c1810-1860. Not burnished; no internal bowl cross; rim cut but not milled stem bore  $4/64''$ . Leaf decorated seams. (Area B/4, Context [2073], Lot 89)
4. Joining bowl and stem fragment dating from c1810-1860. Not burnished; no internal bowl cross; no rim surviving; stem bore  $5/64''$ . Moulded dots on the side of the heel; leaf-decorated seams. (Area B/2, Context [2006], Lot 234)

5. Spur bowl dating from c1800-1900. Not burnished; no internal bowl cross; no rim surviving; stem bore 4/64". Three moulded dots on each side of the spur. (Area B/2, Context [2006])

6. Four joining bowl fragments dating from c1810-1850. Not burnished; no internal bowl cross; rim cut but not milled stem bore 4/64"; spur missing. Decorated with 'ribs' on the lower part of the bowl and with enclosed leaves along both seams. (Area B/2, Context [2027], Lot 93)

7. Composite drawing of a mould decorated bowl dating from c1810-1840. Not burnished; no internal bowl cross; rim cut with moulded milling; stem bore 5/64". Moulded flutes on the lower part of the bowl with panels above bearing Masonic motifs; leaf decorated seams. All fragments appear to be from the same mould. (A total of four fragments – three from Area B/2, Context [2006], SF 234 and one from Area B/2, Context [2006] SF 225)

8. Spur bowl dating from c1840-1870. Not burnished; no internal bowl cross; rim cut but not milled; stem bore 4/64". Marked with a relief moulded ring and dot motif on the sides of the spur. Decorated with narrow flutes on the lower part of the bowl with a series of panels above, together with leaf-decorated seams. (Area A/2, Context [1035], Lot 133)

9. Plain bowl fragment dating from c1850-1920+. Not burnished; rim cut but not milled. Most likely to have been a spur bowl originally. (Area B/3, Context [2004], Lot 48)

10. Plan drawing of a stem fragment dating from c1810-1850. Not burnished; stem bore 5/64". Decorated with crudely moulded leaves along the seams. (Area A/2, Context [1035], Lot 133)

Stem fragment dating from c1750-1850. Not burnished; stem bore 5/64". Marked with a very fine "spiral" band less than 1mm wide. It is unclear if this is deliberate or accidental and whether it occurred before or after firing. (Area B/5, Context [2114], Lot 115)

12. Spur fragment dating from c1826-1904. Not burnished; no surviving rim; stem bore 5/64". Marked with the incuse moulded lettering COGHILL/GLASGOW along the sides of the stem. The Coghills were a very successful family of pipemakers from Glasgow working from c1826-1904. The makers name appears on the smokers right although the more usual position for it is on the smokers left. (Area A/1, Context [1012], Lot 111)

13. Stem fragment in red clay dating from c1846-1955. Not burnished; stem bore 4/64". Marked with the incuse moulded lettering W.WHIT(E)/(G)LASGOW along the sides of the stem. A product of William White & Son, Glasgow who were working c1845-1955. (Area A/2, Context [1035], Lot 133)

14. Stem fragment dating from c1750-1850. Not burnished; stem bore 5/64". This fragment has a ground end and may well have been used as a piece of chalk to write graffiti. (Area B/2, Context [2028], Lot 94)

15-18. Four vulcanite mouthpieces dating from c1850+ and most likely c1920-1950. Nos. 15 and 16 are of a type referred to as a 'taper' and No. 17 is referred to as a 'fantail'. No. 18 is of an unidentified type although a gently curve such as this is often referred to as a 'quarter bend'. (Area A/1, Context [1004], Lot 15)

19. Vulcanite mouthpiece dating from c1930+. Marked with the lettering AERO in an oval on the smokers left and the lettering PROV.PAT and patent number 31128/30 on the smokers left. The /30 denotes the year 1930. (Area A/1, Context [1004], Lot 15)

Two vulcanite mouthpieces dating from c1850+ and most likely c1920-1950. Both of a type known as a 'saddle'. No. 20 is round in section and may well have been used with a number of different briar pipe forms. No. 21 is square in section and is most likely to have been used with one of two main briar pipe forms known as a 'Bulldog' or 'Rhodesian'. (Area A/3, Context [1004], SF 190)

Unidentified pipe clay object dating from 19th or early 20th century (Area B/4, Context [2073], SF 89).

23. Two joining fragments of a briar pipe bowl dating from c1880+ and most likely c1920-1950, of a type known as a "Billiard". (Area A/3, Context [1028], SF 352)
